

Berger Hospital Board Discusses Tax Levy For Fall Ballot

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

The Berger Hospital Board of Governors took formal action Wednesday night to submit the proposal of the financing of Phase II of the building project to the county commissioners. Another major item on the board's agenda at its regular meeting was the approval of full physician coverage for the hospital emergency room.

Representatives from Ernst and Ernst, financial auditing firm, were present at the meeting to discuss the feasibility of financing the construction of the $3.5 million nursing tower which has been dubbed Phase II of the expansion plans.

A study presented by Ernst and Ernst showed that the hospital could not support the burden of financing the second phase as it had the first phase.

In order to finance such a facility without going to the public for a tax levy, Ernst and Ernst predicted that the hospital would have to run with a 75 per cent occupancy and would have to increase its operation to 27,000 patient days per year.

Such increased operation would require an additional nine physicians on the staff and the number of local patients who currently go to other hospitals for care would have to be decreased by 30 per cent.

The Ernst and Ernst representatives then presented figures on revenue which would be garnered through a tax levy.

After viewing the figures for a three mill five year levy, a 1.7 mill ten year levy and a 1.083 mill 20-year levy, the board and Ernst and Ernst found that the ten-year levy was the most practical. It will cost only $34 per year to the home owner whose property has the assessed value of $20,000.

If the levy passes, it would take the architect nine months to a year to prepare the plans and construction would not begin until some time in 1977 which would place actual occupation of the building near 1980.

Plans for Phase II include a multi-story nursing wing which would increase Berger's patient bed space to 100.

A committee of the board and Berger's administrator, Charles Rideout will go to the commissioners with the findings of Ernst and Ernst.

It was the feeling of the board that this coverage, while expensive, is necessary in the operation of the hospital and its service to the people of the area. Rideout pointed out that the emergency room does not pay for itself but increased hospital use in other areas will be needed to help alleviate the expense.

A 10 part plan presented by the administrator was also approved for the increased effectiveness of the staff. The plan included items pertaining to increased benefits as well as closer regulations.

Under the plan which will go into effect July 1, employees will receive partial payment of insurance benefits. The practice of paying full pay for sick time accumulated over 120 days was discontinued along with the present annual merit increases.

In place of these benefits, the new plan provides for an annual bonus based on sick leave, effectiveness and other criteria. Rideout advised the board that a copy of the entire plan would be presented to the staff.

Courtesy staff privileges were given to Soroja Ranpura, M.D. for one year probationary period. Dr. Ranpura is an anesthesiologist from Washington C.H. She had been previously approved for such privileges by the medical staff.

Also in his report to the board Rideout advised that the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Hospitals will be at Berger in July and August for its review.

Rideout reported that the open house had been very successful and over 500 visitors had toured the facility during the two days of open house. He also reported that $2,000 in contributions had been made as a result of the open house.

Those contributors who are listed or will be listed on the plaque in the new wing are as follows: Berger Hospital

Guilds, E.I. DuPont, Owens Illinois, Grace Marvene Howard, Minnie E. Newton, PPG Industries, Effie Hunsicker Fisher, Oneida Mebs Kelzsch, Laura Rush Bowsher, Circleville Plastics,

Cadet Cheating Said Massive

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Officials at the U.S. Military Academy say the entire junior class of cadets will be held over on the post for an investigation into charges of massive cheating.

The academy's statement issued Wednesday did not say how long after normal summer departure the cadets would be held. But a spokesman said it probably would be for about a week or 10 days beyond graduation day, June 2.

Four hundred juniors were scheduled to remain at West Point anyway, for the customary training program for incoming plebes. The other 400 will be delayed in reporting to other army posts for various summer training activities.

The statement said the action will mean that "witnesses and character witnesses, as well as accused cadets, will not have to be brought back from leave or summer training" to testify in the probe.

The academy's action lent credence to reports that hundreds of cadets were involved in cheating on an electrical engineering examination they were permitted to take to their barracks to complete.

Originally 117 juniors were charged with cheating or tolerating cheating, both violations of the academy's honor code. Sixty-five were cleared, four resigned, and 48 appealed to an officers' review panel.

A spokesman said Wednesday that the review panel has received charges from the engineering department that 98 more exam papers are questionable.

A report by ABC Radio News said dozens of cadets have been reporting to the legal department that they cheated or knew other cadets who had, and the total number of suspects has reached 500.

Sources indicated that the mass confessions were aimed at forcing the academy to decide whether to prosecute hundreds of cadets or make changes in the honor code.

The code orders cadets not to "lie, cheat or steal, or tolerate those who do."

An academy spokesman said Lt. Gen. Sidney Berry, superintendent of West Point, had informed Army officials in Washington that the 400 cadets assigned elsewhere would be late in reporting for duty.

The academy also disclosed that the review panel, appointed by Berry only last Sunday, was being increased from 6 to 16 members and broken down into subcommittees to expedite the handling of the growing number of cheating cases.

"We want to be fast and we want to be thorough," a spokesman said.

Swimming will be prohibited at Deer Creek State Park - at least until the Ohio Department of Natural Resources can find about 30.5 billion gallons of water to rejuvenate the reservoir to its safe summer level.

And boaters and skiers will be warned about the dangers of applying their skills in the perilously low waters that will greet vacationers when the park opens Memorial Day weekend.

"We're down about 8½ feet from our normal summer pool," says Deer Creek Park Manager Jerry Wooten, whose new-found headaches include a "big sand pit" for a swimming area, boat docks that are lying on hard-packed ground 25 feet from the water, and rock and tree-filled power alleys which normally are skimmed over by high-powered boats.

Wooten's headaches are shared by managers of 43 other parks across the state, managers who will be faced with the difficult task of explaining their troubles to the thousands of Ohioans expected to flock to the outdoor areas for their traditional Memorial Day outings.

Bingo Measure Becomes Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bingo for private gain has been banned in Ohio under legislation signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes, who said the new law will drive out profiteers "intent only on making money for themselves."

"It will keep bingo where it belongs," Rhodes said Wednesday, "as a fund raising vehicle for charitable organizations."

The governor waited for the 10th and final day to exercise his authority before permitting the bill to become law without his signature. The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Charles Butts, D-23 Cleveland, is effective immediately.

After being asked by several groups to veto the legislation, he issued a rare statement explaining his action.

Rhodes said he objected to sections of the bill barring payment to workers who run bingo games and requiring licensing of the games by the attorney general.

"Since the passage of the bill," he said, "I have received hundreds of letters from people who are employed in the operation of charitable bingo games, expressing concern about their employment. Because of this provision of the bill, they will lose their jobs."

The legislature added this section on the grounds that all volunteer help would be in keeping with the intended charitable nature of any bingo games.

Rhodes said Atty. Gen. William J. Brown was not the appropriate official to regulate bingo. "This provision is totally inconsistent with existing regulatory and licensing authority," he said. "The state Commerce Department is the appropriate agency to regulate and license bingo games."

The bill was approved by the General Assembly last month after Ohio voters passed a constitutional amendment in November adding charitable bingo to the state lottery as exceptions to the constitutional prohibition of gambling. The ballot issue also mandated the legislature to establish regulation of bingo.

The bill defines "charitable organization" as any religious, fraternal, volunteer firemen's, or other groups which are tax exempt under the Internal Revenue Service code.

It limits games to two sessions a week; puts a $3,500 limit on prizes in a single session and requires that profits must go to a legitimate charitable cause.

Violations would be punishable by up to 10 years' imprisonment and a $15,000 fine.

Rhodes also signed, effective Aug. 25, legislation that will permit self-service gas stations in Ohio.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland, grants franchised stations the option of operating full service stations of self-service pumps. It requires the State Fire Marshal to establish safety standards.

The stations will not be permitted to open until next Jan. 1. Supporters say the move will save Ohioans several cents per gallon.

Rhodes also signed effective Aug. 25:

—A bill sponsored by Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, granting elderly and disabled citizens half-price rates on weekends in state parks.

—Legislation sponsored by Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, Mandating safety inspections and driver training for mass transit bus systems transporting school children.

—Legislation authored by Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, that will permit police officers to take intoxicated persons to alcoholic treatment centers, without their consent, rather than jail them. The bill specifies that the person must be released from the center if he or she does not wish to remain.

—A measure sponsored by Rep. Francine Panehal, D-5 Cleveland, requiring hospitals to offer uterine examinations (pap tests) to women patients over 18 years old.

Minnesota Drought At Critical Stage

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The corn and hay are stunted, the earth powder dry. Minnesota farmers have already suffered $600 million in crop losses this spring in the state's worst drought since 1910.

"Those are irrevocable losses," said Jon Wefald, Minnesota's agriculture commissioner. "Kiss it good-bye, it's gone."

The drought began last summer. Winter snows were light, and spring rains lighter. Now farmers hire rain makers, dairymen talk of cutting back their herds, and the forest lands of northern Minnesota are desert dry.

"It gets worse every day there is no rain," said Wefald, whose $600-million estimate of crop losses Wednesday was three times the estimate made only five days before.

In an average year, Minnesota farms produce crops worth $4 billion to $5 billion. They won't this year, said Wefald, and he spelled it out this way: $200 million in losses to the hay crops, $200 million to the corn crop, and $200 million in small grains — oats, rye and barley.

"No one knows how severe the losses actually are," he added. "We've never had one like this before."

As the Minnesota farm season swings into its crucial stage, four-fifths of the state has received below normal rainfall. There is an 8-inch to 12-inch rainfall deficit over wide areas since last fall, and another 3-inch to 4-inch deficit this spring.

Half an inch of rain has fallen in Minneapolis so far in May; 2½ inches is normal. The federal-state crop reporting service said this week that subsoil at some farms showed no significant moisture nine feet below ground.

Weather forecasts call for no substantial rain for the next several days in southern and central Minnesota. So farmers in a six-county area around St. Cloud in the center of the state raised $75,000 and hired a rain maker. Cloud seeding began Wednesday, but there was no word of successful results.

In the northern two-thirds of the state, forestlands and grasslands, there has been no significant rain in eight weeks and logging has been banned in most of the 3.4-million-acre Superior National Forest. The U.S. Forest Service said some of the loggers, laid off because of the ban, will be used as standby firefighters.

The harshest effects of the drought so far have been limited to Minnesota. But the timberlands of western Wisconsin are dry and agricultural officials in North Dakota said Wednesday that farmer there would begin losing crops if they don't get rain soon.

Although the Dakotas have had some rain, a spokesman for the National Weather Service said a large stable high pressure center has been keeping moisture out of Minnesota.

Butz Blasts Food Stamp Cutback Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, named a defendant in a suit challenging the administration's food-stamp cutback, says the plaintiffs are "bleeding hearts" who could find some "soft-headed judge" to hear their complaint.

Seventy-three food-stamp families and 53 unions, 26 states, 22 religious groups, the U.S. Conference of Mayors and various civil rights organizations sued Butz and other officials Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

The plaintiffs are asking the court to halt new food stamp regulations, which start taking effect next Tuesday. A hearing on that request was set for Friday before Judge Howard F. Corcoran.

President Ford was expected to meet today with Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, Solicitor General Robert H. Bork, and Butz to discuss the long-expected suit.

Ford issued the new rules earlier this year in an effort to shave $1.2 billion from the annual $5.7 billion program. The new rules would force about 1.7 million families out of the program, leaving about 4.2 million families in.

At the same time, administration officials say the new rules would increase the benefits to the poorest recipients.

Butz told an audience in Columbus, Ohio, of his views about the plaintiffs and said he could not see a student at Ohio State University getting food stamps "while his parents were at home driving a big Buick, or a man leaving a $5-an-hour job to go on strike and receive food stamps. Taxpayers don't want to subsidize the program."

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard L. Feltner said in Washington, "I have every confidence that the reforms we have set in motion are entirely within our authority under the Food Stamp Act ... We are confident the courts will uphold us." Feltner also is a defendant.

The families said in the suit that they either will lose their food-stamp benefits entirely or have them sharply reduced by the rules.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into a broad decline today, unsettled by reports of slipping confidence among consumers.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost more than 2 points in the early going. Declines took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Conference Board, a prominent research organization, reported that its index of consumer confidence had fallen between February and April to wipe out its gains of the first two months of the year.

Brokers noted that such data, echoed by other researchers, raised fears of a slowdown in consumer spending that would remove a major source of strength from the economic recovery.

Today's early prices included Allen Group, down 1/2 at 17 1/4; Pan American World Airways, off 1/4 at 5 1/4; Control Data, unchanged at 20 1/2, and Heublein, 3/4 lower at 48 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average sagged 3.06 points to 968.63.

Syria Approves Peace Force Extension

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim announced today that President Hafez Assad has agreed to extend the life of the United Nations peace force on the Golan Heights for another six months without any political conditions.

Israel announced last week that it would agree to an extension of the mandate of the 1,194-man U.N. Disengagement Observer Force. But it said it would oppose any Syrian attempt to attach political conditions.

The mandate expires at the end of the month. As its price for the extension six months ago, Syria got a Security Council debate on the Arab-Israeli situation with the Palestine Liberation Organization participating. But relations between Syria and the PLO have cooled since then because of Assad's intervention in the Lebanese civil war.

Waldheim flew to Damascus on Tuesday to obtain Syria's agreement to extension of the mandate. Arab diplomats at U.N. headquarters said then they did not expect Assad to make any "unreasonable" conditions.

In an airport statement as he left for New York, Waldheim said his meetings with Assad were "very cordial and constructive."

Asked if there was any kind of agreement as to further steps toward peace in the Middle East, the secretary-general replied: "Yes, that is what our talks were about. Assad is very keen to progress in the way of peace."

He refused to give any more information.

The U.N. force has manned a truce zone between Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights since the Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in 1974.

Warranty Changes Hurt Buyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you used merchandise before returning it for a cash refund because it was defective, the Federal Trade Commission is proposing that the manufacturer have the right to charge you for the use.

In a move that could diminish the value of so-called full warranties, the commission today proposed allowing manufacturers to deduct a use charge from any refunds claimed by customers who buy defective products.

Hearings on the proposal will begin in late summer.

The proposal attempts "to balance in an equitable manner the consumer's interest in enforcing his rights under the full warranty interest of the marketplace in preventing any unjust enrichment of a consumer," according to a staff recommendation.

The rule would apply only to full, rather than limited, warranties and only when the customer actually has enjoyed some use of the product before it goes bad. It would not affect cases where the seller decides to replace the product, rather than refund the purchase price.

Under terms of a new federal statute, cash refunds under full warranties must now amount to the full purchase price, regardless of interim use. However, the law entitles the FTC to make the change it is now proposing.

The change would not be mandatory and manufacturers could continue to offer a full price refund if they choose. But if they wanted, they could deduct from that refund the percentage of actual product use against the "useful life" of the item.

The useful life — not to be confused with the length of the warranty — would have to be disclosed in the warranty, and the figure would be subject to FTC review.

Close Beach . . .

AT WATER'S EDGE — People will be permitted to walk along the edge of the water at Deer Creek State Park, but can't swim due to the low summer pool. Bouys, usually floating in seven feet of water, are stranded on the beach, about 20 feet from the lake.

The same lack of rain currently hurting farmers and home gardeners is responsible for Deer Creek's woes.

Basil Green, project supervisor with the Army Corps of Engineers, correctly blames the six-inch below average rainfall for the year.

"We had enough rainfall in March to stabilize the water level," he said, "and when we closed the dam gates April 1, we fully expected to reach our summer pool level by April 20."

But rainfall for May raised the lake's water level about a half an inch, not nearly enough to compensate for the 14-foot drawdown completed each November for winter storage.

Both Wooten and Green say five inches of steady rain within a three to five day period would be enough to raise the water level to its summer pool. That equates to 30.5 billion gallons, roughly the amount of water needed to supply a city the size of Cincinnati for a month.

They would like to have a hard rain, rain that would soak two inches into the ground and run off the other three into the 273 square mile water shed which feeds the reservoir.

Swimming along the 1,700 foot beach opened in August, 1972, is not possible. Water, normally covering 160 feet of combed sand from the beach to safety bouys, is just not there.

In fact, the water level only comes to within 20 feet of the bouys, which normally float in about seven feet of water.

Deputies Arrest Airmen

A Columbus man was charged with criminal trespassing and receiving and retaining stolen property, and his friend was charged with trespassing by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies early Thursday morning.

Both men are personnel at Rickenbacker Air Force Base.

Lee Nelson Manning, 24, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in jail following a hearing in Municipal Court on the trespassing charge. He was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail for receiving and retaining.

The incident began 3:22 a.m. Thursday when Mark Clark, co-owner of Deercreek Auto Parts, Williamsport, spotted Manning's van in front of the Route 22 building and lot.

Ralph H. Nazarian, 25, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail on the trespassing charge.

Deputies Jim Deal and Dan Dewey parked along Route 22 for about an hour and a half, watching the men on Deercreek property. When they returned to Route 22, the deputies charged them with trespassing.

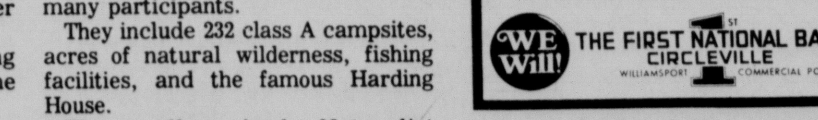

Deputy Deal, with a search warrant, found a 23-channel Citizen Band radio in the van. It was traced to Richard K. Curry, Columbus, who said it was a portion of $113 in merchandise taken from his car May 19 in Columbus.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into a broad decline today, unsettled by reports of slipping confidence among consumers.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost more than 2 points in the early going. Declines took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Conference Board, a prominent research organization, reported that its index of consumer confidence had fallen between February and April to wipe out its gains of the first two months of the year.

Brokers noted that such data, echoed by other researchers, raised fears of a slowdown in consumer spending that would remove a major source of strength from the economic recovery.

Today's early prices included Allen Group, down 1/2 at 17 1/4; Pan American World Airways, off 1/4 at 5 1/4; Control Data, unchanged at 20 1/2, and Heublein, 3/4 lower at 48 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average sagged 3.06 points to 968.63.

Close Beach . . .

AT WATER'S EDGE — People will be permitted to walk along the edge of the water at Deer Creek State Park, but can't swim due to the low summer pool. Buoys, usually floating in seven feet of water, are stranded on the beach, about 20 feet from the lake.

The same lack of rain currently hurting farmers and home gardeners is responsible for Deer Creek's woes.

Basil Green, project supervisor with the Army Corps of Engineers, correctly blames the six-inch below average rainfall for the year.

"We had enough rainfall in March to stabilize the water level," he said, "and when we closed the dam gates April 1, we fully expected to reach our summer pool level by April 20."

But rainfall for May raised the lake's water level about a half an inch, not nearly enough to compensate for the 14-foot drawdown completed each November for winter storage.

Both Wooten and Green say five inches of steady rain within a three to five day period would be enough to raise the water level to its summer pool. That equates to 30.5 billion gallons, roughly the amount of water needed to supply a city the size of Cincinnati for a month.

They would like to have a hard rain, rain that would soak two inches into the ground and run off the other three into the 273 square mile water shed which feeds the reservoir.

Swimming along the 1,700 foot beach opened in August, 1972, is not possible. Water, normally covering 160 feet of combed sand from the beach to safety buoys, is just not there.

In fact, the water level only comes to within 20 feet of the buoys, which normally float in about seven feet of water.

Wooten and Ralph VanZant, chief of the division of Parks and Recreation, made the determination to close the park to swimming when it was discovered that rocks, trees, and even a fence lie directly beyond the safe swimming markers. And, there are deep dropoffs along the shoreline.

Sunbathers will be allowed to enjoy the sand, however.

It will be the responsibility of seven lifeguards to keep people from the water, Wooten said. They are Dave Shank, Glen Gillespie, Tom Spring, Sue Milburn, Colleen Langen, Jim Smith, and Jill Willis.

Wooten, his assistant Archie Rawlinson, and Park Rangers Frank Wood and Rod List will also be patrolling the beach area to keep people within the safe limits.

The beach will be open from noon to 7:30 p.m. on weekdays and from noon to 8:30 p.m. on weekends and holidays. There is a concession stand at the park for food and beverages, and free beach facilities with showers.

Advance notice will be given when the water level reaches safe swimming limits, Wooten said.

Other facilities at the 7,000 acre park will be available, although with the low water supply, Wooten doesn't foresee many participants.

They include 232 class A campsites, acres of natural wilderness, fishing facilities, and the famous Harding House.

The well-received Naturalist program will begin in Mid-June, he said.

Plans for expansion of Deer Creek have not been affected, however. The Ohio Department of Natural Resources plans to go ahead with construction of a boat marina, which will be located off the Route 207 boat ramp, in the fall. And within five years, the park is expected to have a lodge, 200 class B campsites, and an 18-hole golf course.

Deputies Arrest Airmen

A Columbus man was charged with criminal trespassing and receiving and retaining stolen property, and his friend was charged with trespassing by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies early Thursday morning. Both men are personnel at Rickenbacker Air Force Base.

Lee Nelson Manning, 24, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in jail following a hearing in Municipal Court on the trespassing charge. He was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail for receiving and retaining.

The incident began 3:22 a.m. Thursday when Mark Clark, co-owner of Deercreek Auto Parts, Williamsport, spotted Manning's van in front of the Route 22 building and lot.

Ralph H. Nazarian, 25, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail on the trespassing charge.

Deputies Jim Deal and Dan Dewey parked along Route 22 for about an hour and a half, watching the men on Deercreek property. When they returned to Route 22, the deputies charged them with trespassing.

Deputy Deal, with a search warrant, found a 23-channel Citizen Band radio in the van. It was traced to Richard K. Curry, Columbus, who said it was a portion of $113 in merchandise taken from his car May 19 in Columbus.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be such a man, and live such a life, that if every man were such as you, and every life a life like yours, this earth would be God's paradise.

State Campgrounds Face Big Crush

By JIM DAUBEL
For The Associated Press
Forty-seven Ohio state park campgrounds will suffer the season's first big crush of humanity next weekend as thousands of campers head for the outdoors over Memorial Day.
Many will be disappointed, in part because they have not yet mastered the fine art of reserving campsites in Ohio.
There are actually two reservation systems, one promoted by the state and the other developed by frustrated campers, mostly in metropolitan areas where people are plentiful and campgrounds are not.

In the official, well-publicized system, the Department of Natural Resources has set aside some campsites in 12 public campgrounds for advance reservations, first-come, first-served, by phone, mail or in person at designated parks up to four weeks in advance.
For unofficial, do-it-yourself reservations, individuals simply head for a nearby state park early in the week before a busy holiday, rent a site for a week or more and set up camp. Some commute to work or school or even live at home, leaving the tent or trailer at the park so their plot is reserved for the weekend.

The following aren't necessarily recommended over holidays, but they do offer something different in the way of campground settings, activities or natural features.
NORTHEAST — Mosquito Creek State Park opened a new campground this year. Available now are 234 sites on Mosquito Reservoir which also is one of four waterfowl refuges and management areas in Ohio.
SOUTHWEST — Pike Lake State Park northwest of Morgantown is located in Pike County and Pike State Forest. Its 150 Class B campsites are near a small lake. There is a swimming beach on an island accessible by footbridge.

SOUTHEAST — Nature programs also are offered at Blue Rock State Park, Muskingum County, in the state forest by the same name. Extensive hiking trails are available as is at a rent-a-camp program for people without tents and other basic gear.
CENTRAL — There are larger parks in this district, and some with more recreational facilities, but Scioto Trail State Park, Ross County, is one of those especially quiet, attractive campgrounds, a department spokesman said.
NORTHWEST — South Bass State Park on South Bass Island or Kelleys State Park on nearby Kelleys Island are unique.

A Page Of Opinion

Expensive Pact

Once again the United States has committed itself to an expensive overseas base deal in the hopes of buying friendship. In the past, similar arrangements frequently have boomeranged.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved a five-year pact with Spain which permits continued use of American bases there in exchange for $1.2 billion in loans and gifts. The administration hopes the rewarding financial arrangements — more generous than past agreements — will hasten Spain's emergence from the Franco era into a democratic state.

There are at least two fallacies in this kind of agreement. First is the concept of paying large sums of money to any country, in addition to investing heavily in the physical bases, for a defense pact which is supposed to be mutual. It is totally one-sided, with the host country appearing to be doing the United States a favor.

The second condition which makes little sense is trying to entice Spain into democracy with generous aid pacts in advance. Six months after Franco's death, Spain still has not begun to move in any meaningful way toward greater freedom for its people. It might have been encouraged to take those first steps had Washington not been so quick to come rushing in with its generosity.

Parking Permitted

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The first sign of spring is the robin. The first sign of fall is a falling leaf. The first sign of winter is a raindrop turning white. And the first sign of summer reads: "GARAGE SALE TODAY."

The Garage Sale has become a national symbol of planned, if rather sloppy, obsolescence. In some parts of the country, it is referred to as a Tag Sale, or a Barn Sale, or, if sponsored by the church, a Rummage Sale. If the Women's Club sponsors it, it's a White Elephant Sale, which is classier and notable for the absence of cracked pottery and unstrung metal venetian blinds.

There are good Garage Sales and rotten Garage Sales, and we have come to recognize them before bothering to park the car: study the arms of the people emerging. If they are empty, move on.

Rare treasures can be discovered at good Garage Sales, and many folks in our exurban neighborhood (enterprising housewives, principally) turn a neat 50 cents by investing in them. Buy a chipped Wedgewood platter for $1.25 in 1974, and resell it at your own garage sale for $1.75 in '76. Meantime, you have had the use of it, impressing chipped Wedgewood aficionados for two years.

A Garage Sale is a marketplace for the greedy, an irresistible exercise in impetuosity and impulse buying. It is the one place where your teenager can pick up a 1932 Philco radio that doesn't work for only $3.35, and thereby learn that electrical engineering is not, after all, the profession he was created for.

It is a place where your 10-year-old can buy a pornographic paperback, while you are eyeing the 1945 National Geographic, for only a nickel. It is a place where a family can sell all its unwanted junk — often for almost enough money to resod the lawn which has been chewed up by the visiting buyers.

Last Saturday's Garage Sales were by far the biggest event in our neck of the woods since the Volunteer Firemen's Parade. No one had had much of a chance to throw away their money since Christmas, and here we all were faced with cellarful of cheapies. . . . Garage Sales are usually held in cellars or on lawns, because garages are full of plows, blowers, mowers, cars and other more valuable junk.

One 11-year-old boy nagged his parents for the left-handed golf clubs (at $6) that I personally had seen sold in 1974 for $4 to a 10-year-old. Kids love left-handed golf clubs when they're cheap, and always say they can switch-divot in order to use them.

Empty whisky bottles were fast movers, apparently as terrarium planters, at 35 cents each. Spindly impatient plants in 3-inch plastic pots were ignored, appropriately, at a half-dollar each. Tattered chairs for reupholstering were grabbed up as were old bikes and tricycles. "Hey, man, look at those wheels!" — and any item of furniture manufactured after 1950 was in demand. "I suppose it's too big," remarked a young woman in jeans confronting a royal blue bookcase, "but look at the price, $101!" She bought, and her husband groaned. Neighbors reported jubilantly that they'd netted nearly $2,000 on Saturday — on discards they had planned to pay to be trucked away.

There's no doubt about it. For the homeowner, a good Garage Sale is an economic joy. But it also is a physical and psychological menace.

"A poorly planned Sale will ruin your disposition, your standing in town, and possibly your health," a neighbor warned us awhile ago. "But if you plan it right, you can make a mint."

Here is some advice for potential mint-makers:

First and most important, be sure your community has no rules against public vending of household goods. If you live in an apartment, clear the plan and the date with the superintendent.

Next step, divide saleable items in reasonable order for the convenience of buyers — kid's stuff separated widely from adults' stuff, furniture in a different area. Garage Sales are family attractions, and individual members of a family are more likely to buy if not distracted (and discouraged) by other members. Tag each item with a price.

If you can't decide how much an item should cost — $1, say, or $1.50 — elect the higher price. This is because some customers aren't happy unless they can talk you down a notch, thus turning a mere bargain into a stupendous bargain.

Advertise in newspapers or bulletin boards. List roughly what you're offering and give an address. But never a name or phone number. If you list a name or phone number, people will call asking if you have such-and-such; if you don't have it, they won't come, and you'll lose impulse buyers; if you do have it, and they come and it's already sold, they'll be angry. Too much hassle in all that.

Last vital tip: try to schedule your Garage Sale for a day when no rain is forecast. If it rains, your customers either won't come — or they'll dig their fat tires into your turf, and their soggy shoes on your walks and floors — and you'll wish they'd stayed away.

A Garage Sale is an iffy asset . . . or an asset iffy you're lucky.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 27, the 148th day of 1976. There are 218 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, the British Navy sank the German battleship Bismarck off France, with a loss of 2,300 lives. This Bismarck had been pursued more than 1,700 miles after sinking the British warship Hood three days earlier.

On this date:

In 1937, the Golden Gate Bridge across San Francisco Bay was opened. In 1954, more than 100 crewmen were killed in an explosion aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington off Rhode Island.

In 1964, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru died in New Delhi. Ten years ago: Fidel Castro ordered a state of alert for the armed forces in Cuba, changing U.S. provocations.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union signed a 15-year pact with Egypt, pledging assistance in the recovery of all Arab territories occupied by Israel.

One year ago: The United States agreed to end its aid program in the Indochina kingdom of Laos.

Today's birthdays: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is 53. Democratic Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is 65.

Thought for today: The pursuit of truth shall set you free — even if you never catch up with it — Clarence Darrow, American lawyer. 1857-1938.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, representatives of six Indian tribes had an audience with the Continental Congress in Philadelphia. The Congress staged a military parade to impress the visitors.

Editions Of The Past

A silver thimble lost 20 years ago was found in Derby when Earl Puckett was spading the garden of Mrs. Alma Hays.

Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, W. Union St., announced the sale of the stock of her West Main Street furniture store to Elliott Bonnie.

From the Tall Tales corner: William Radcliff, who goes to the republican convention in a couple of weeks as an alternate delegate, holds a fine Jackson Twp. cow in high regard. One day during some recent high water, the erstwhile Williamsport mayor was driving his automobile over a detour around Route 104. The road took him through some high water, however. Bill found his car stuck and himself stranded.

Then Bossie put in her appearance. She grinned quietly to hizzoner, plodded around the car and put her horns against the back of the vehicle. She pushed and finally moved the machine. This cow, Mayor Radcliff reports, and who would doubt his word, shoved the car more than 100 yards to dry ground. Mr. Radcliff now holds in even higher regard the buttermilk he quaffs each day at Brother Al Cook's because it might be Bossie's.

Oakley Turner, Atlanta, was honored by fellow students at Capital University, Columbus, by election on the college activities board.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Ever since I had a cerebral spasm I have been troubled with tingling sensations in both arms. My question is, "Do I have to live with these sensations or is there something that can be done to cure the condition?"

Mr. E.K.F., Conn.

Dear Mr. F.:

A "cerebral spasm" can be classified as mild stroke. One of the blood vessels that brings blood and oxygen to the brain may go into spasm, or temporarily close down.

There may or may not be a relationship between the time you had the cerebral spasm and the onset of the tingling sensation in the arm. In any case, the paresthesia, or tingling feeling, certainly indicates that it is caused by some circulatory condition.

There are now a number of vasodilating drugs. These are intended to relieve the spasm and perhaps increase the blood supply. Under your doctor's supervision, one or more of these drugs may be effective. There is little or no risk to their use when the patient is under the continued observation of the doctor.

I have had severe pain at the base of my spine for about four years. I do not recall any injury. It began when I was 34 years old.

Mrs. B.B., Mich.

Dear Mrs. B.:

One of the conditions that must be considered is known as "coccydynia." This means pain in the region of the coccyx, or lowest portion of the spine.

Sometimes it is difficult to understand why this annoying, but not serious, condition occurs. X-ray studies and neurological examination may be helpful.

In the absence of any specific findings, cortisone and local anesthetics are injected in this area and may provide relief.

Occasionally, surgery is considered. Before this is done, however, all other avenues should be investigated.

Miss L.F.G., Maine

Dear Miss G.:

Although this is a popular phrase and physicians hear it all the time, there is no validity to this homemade "scientific" diagnosis.

The most important aspect of this or any other infection, bacterial or viral, is that it be treated and not neglected.

Lottery Commission OKs New Games To Increase Sales

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio Lottery Commission trotted out an array of new games Tuesday aimed at boosting the recently lagging sales and offering a wider prize range that will produce a greater number of winners.

And the one expected to be most popular is the instant game through which ticketholders will learn immediately whether they get a prize simply by rubbing off some gold foil, even though the prize may be as little as $2.

But it also may be as much as $10,000, which ought to evoke considerable spot excitement, William Malloy, lottery marketing director, says.

Tuesday marked the initial sale of tickets bearing the designation "TV Extra" with an additional five digit number in the upper right corner. It offers prizes between $1,000 and $20,000.

At the same time, the commission approved rules for a new 50-cent ticket that will replace the Buckeye 1,000. This game, to be called "Pot O' Gold" and tentatively scheduled for an Aug. 3 start, will provide a top prize of $250,000 besides awards similar to the current basic game, Malloy said.

In other action, the commission tentatively set Aug. 19 as the date for Ohio's ninth millionaire drawing and tentatively planned to replace the instant game in September with a $1 ticket called "Double Play."

The TV Extra makes the matching ticketholder eligible for a special contest in the regular Thursday night lottery telecast. It will be in addition to the Buckeye 1,000, in which the top winner gets $1,000 per month for life and is guaranteed at least $400,000.

But if TV Extra ticketholders wait longer than one week to claim their spot on the telecast, they will get only the minimum $1,000 prize, Malloy said.

In the instant lottery, the gold foil will cover five boxes. One lists the potential prize and another listed a number called the key. When any one of the numbers in remaining three boxes matches the key number, the ticketholder wins the prize that's listed—$2, $5, $200, $500, $1,000 or $10,000.

If all three numbers match the key, the holder becomes eligible for a drawing in which each participant will win at least $15,000 and will have a chance at "super prizes" of $250,000, $500,000 or $1 million.

The instant game, expected to run 8 to 12 weeks, will average two winners for every 17 tickets and will replace the current "Spirit of '76" in which the last drawing will be June 17.

The Pot O' Gold contest tickets will bear a finalist number designating those who will become part of a weekly television competition pool if the claim is presented within one week, Malloy said.

Then from the pool, six will be selected to compete for prizes of $25,000 or $250,000. The four who win neither award will get $5,000 each. Those in the pool who aren't among the six selected for the telecast will get a $500 each.

NOTICE OF ELECTION ON TAX LEVY IN EXCESS OF THE TEN MILL LIMITATION

NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Council of the Village of Ashville, Ohio, passed on the 2nd day of February, 1976, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said Ashville Village at a Primary Election to be held in the Village of Ashville, Ohio, at the regular places of voting therein, on Tuesday, the 8th day of June, 1976, the question of levying, in excess of the ten mill limitation, for the benefit of Ashville Village for the purpose of current expenses.

Said tax being: a renewal of an existing tax at a rate not exceeding one-half (1/2) mills for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to fifteen cents ($.15) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for five (5) years and that said levy be placed upon the tax lists and duplicate of the year 1976, to be collected commencing with the year 1977.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 7:30 o'clock P.M. By The Clerk of said day.

A Page Of Opinion

Expensive Pact

Once again the United States has committed itself to an expensive overseas base deal in the hopes of buying friendship. In the past, similar arrangements frequently have boomeranged.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved a five-year pact with Spain which permits continued use of American bases there in exchange for $1.2 billion in loans and gifts. The administration hopes the rewarding financial arrangements — more generous than past agreements — will hasten Spain's emergence from the Franco era into a democratic state.

There are at least two fallacies in this kind of agreement. First is the concept of paying large sums of money to any country, in addition to investing heavily in the physical bases, for a defense pact which is supposed to be mutual. It is totally one-sided, with the host country appearing to be doing the United States a favor.

The second condition which makes little sense is trying to entice Spain into democracy with generous aid pacts in advance. Six months after Franco's death, Spain still has not begun to move in any meaningful way toward greater freedom for its people. It might have been encouraged to take those first steps had Washington not been so quick to come rushing in with its generosity.

Parking Permitted

By PHYLLIS BATTELE
NEW YORK — The first sign of spring is the robin. The first sign of fall is a falling leaf. The first sign of winter is a raindrop turning white. And the first sign of summer reads: "GARAGE SALE TODAY."

The Garage Sale has become a national symbol of planned, if rather sloppy, obsolescence. In some parts of the country, it is referred to as a Tag Sale, or a Barn Sale, or, if sponsored by the church, a Rummage Sale. If the Women's Club sponsors it, it's a White Elephant Sale, which is classier and notable for the absence of cracked pottery and unstrung metal venetian blinds.

There are good Garage Sales and rotten Garage Sales, and we have come to recognize them before bothering to park the car: study the arms of the people emerging. If they are empty, move on.

Rare treasures can be discovered at good Garage Sales, and many folks in our suburban neighborhood (enterprising housewives, principally) turn a neat 50 cents by investing in them. Buy a chipped Wedgewood platter for $1.25 in 1974, and resell it at your own garage sale for $1.75 in '76. Meantime, you have had the use of it, impressing chipped Wedgewood aficionados for two years.

A Garage Sale is a marketplace for the greedy, an irresistible exercise in impetuosity and impulse buying. It is the one place where your teenager can pick up a 1932 Philco radio that doesn't work for only $3.35, and thereby learn that electrical engineering is not, after all, the profession he was created for.

It is a place where your 10-year-old can buy a pornographic paperback, while you are eyeing the 1945 National Geographic, for only a nickel. It is a place where a family can sell all its unwanted junk — often for almost enough money to resod the lawn which has been chewed up by the visiting buyers.

Last Saturday's Garage Sales were by far the biggest event in our neck of the woods since the Volunteer Firemen's Parade. No one had had much of a chance to throw away their money since Christmas, and here we all were faced with cellars full of cheapies... Garage Sales are usually held in cellars or on lawns, because garages are full of plows, blowers, mowers, cars and other more valuable junk.

One 11-year-old boy nagged his parents for the left-handed golf clubs (at $6) that I personally had seen sold in 1974 for $4 to a 10-year-old. Kids love left-handed golf clubs when they're cheap, and always say they can switch-divot in order to use them.

Empty whisky bottles were fast movers, apparently as terrarium planters, at 35 cents each. Spindly impatient plants in 3-inch plastic pots were ignored, appropriately, at a half-dollar each. Tattered chairs for reupholstering were grabbed up as were old bikes and tricycles — "Hey, man, look at those wheels!" — and any item of furniture manufactured after 1950 was in demand. "I suppose it's too big," remarked a young woman in jeans confronting a royal blue bookcase, "but look at the price, $10!" She bought, and her husband groaned. Neighbors reported jubilantly that they'd netted nearly $2,000 on Saturday — on discards they had planned to pay to be trucked away.

There's no doubt about it. For the homeowner, a good Garage Sale is an economic joy. But it also is a physical and psychological menace.

"A poorly planned Sale will ruin your disposition, your standing in town, and possibly your health," a neighbor warned us awhile ago. "But if you plan it right, you can make a mint."

Here is some advice for potential mint-makers:

First and most important, be sure your community has no rules against public vending of household goods. If you live in an apartment, clear the plan and the date with the superintendent.

Next step, divide saleable items in reasonable order for the convenience of buyers — kid's stuff separated widely from adults' stuff, furniture in a different area. Garage Sales are family attractions, and individual members of a family are more likely to buy if not distracted (and discouraged) by other members. Tag each item with a price. If you can't decide how much an item should cost — $1, say, or $1.50 — elect the higher price. This is because some customers aren't happy unless they can talk you down a notch, thus turning a mere bargain into a stupendous bargain.

Advertise in newspapers or bulletin boards. List roughly what you're offering and give an address. But never a name or phone number. If you list a name or phone number, people will call asking if you have such-and-such; if you don't have it, they won't come, and you'll lose impulse buyers; if you do have it, and they come and it's already sold, they'll be angry. Too much hassle in all that.

Last vital tip: try to schedule your Garage Sale for a day when no rain is forecast. If it rains, your customers either won't come — or they'll dig their fat tires into your turf, and their soggy shoes on your walks and floors — and you'll wish they'd stayed away.

A Garage Sale is an iffy asset... or an asset iffy you're lucky.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 27, the 148th day of 1976. There are 218 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, the British Navy sank the German battleship Bismarck off France, with a loss of 2,300 lives. This Bismarck had been pursued more than 1,700 miles after sinking the British warship Hood three days earlier.

On this date: In 1937, the Golden Gate Bridge across San Francisco Bay was opened. In 1954, more than 100 crewmen were killed in an explosion aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington off Rhode Island.

In 1964, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru died in New Delhi. Ten years ago: Fidel Castro ordered a state of alert for the armed forces in Cuba, changing U.S. provocations.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union signed a 15-year pact with Egypt, pledging assistance in the recovery of all Arab territories occupied by Israel.

One year ago: The United States agreed to end its aid program in the Indochina kingdom of Laos.

Today's birthdays: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is 53. Democratic Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is 65.

Thought for today: The pursuit of truth shall set you free — even if you never catch up with it — Clarence Darrow, American lawyer, 1857-1938.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, representatives of six Indian tribes had an audience with the Continental Congress in Philadelphia. The Congress staged a military parade to impress the visitors.

A silver thimble lost 20 years ago was found in Derby when Earl Puckett was spading the garden of Mrs. Alma Hays.

Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, W. Union St., announced the sale of the stock of her West Main Street furniture store to Elliott Bonnie.

From the Tall Tales corner: William Radcliff, who goes to the republican convention in a couple of weeks as an alternate delegate, holds a fine Jackson Twp. cow in high regard. One day during some recent high water, the erstwhile Williamsport mayor was driving his automobile over a detour around Route 104. The road took him through some high water, however. Bill found his car stuck and himself stranded.

Then Bossie put in her appearance. She grinned quietly to hizzoner, plodded around the car and put her horns against the back of the vehicle. She pushed and finally moved the machine. This cow, Mayor Radcliff reports, and who would doubt his word, showed the car more than 100 yards to dry ground. Mr. Radcliff now holds in even higher regard the butter milk he quaffs each day at Brother Al Cook's because it might be Bossie's.

Lottery Commission OKs New Games To Increase Sales

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio Lottery Commission trotted out an array of new games Tuesday aimed at boosting the recently lagging sales and offering a wider prize range that will produce a greater number of winners.

And the one expected to be most popular is the instant game through which ticketholders will learn immediately whether they get a prize simply by rubbing off some gold foil, even though the prize may be as little as $2.

But it also may be as much as $10,000, which ought to evoke considerable spot excitement, William Malloy, lottery marketing director, says.

Tuesday marked the initial sale of tickets bearing the designation "TV Extra" with an additional five digit number in the upper right corner. It offers prizes between $1,000 and $20,000.

At the same time, the commission approved rules for a new 50-cent ticket that will replace the Buckeye 1,000. This game, to be called "Pot O' Gold" and tentatively scheduled for an Aug. 3 start, will provide a top prize of $250,000 besides awards similar to the current basic game, Malloy said.

In other action, the commission tentatively set Aug. 19 as the date for Ohio's ninth millionaire drawing and tentatively planned to replace the instant game in September with a $1 ticket called "Double Play."

The TV Extra makes the matching ticketholder eligible for a special contest in the regular Thursday night lottery telecast. It will be in addition to the Buckeye 1,000, in which the top winner gets $1,000 per month for life and is guaranteed at least $400,000.

But if TV Extra ticketholders wait longer than one week to claim their spot on the telecast, they will get only the minimum $1,000 prize, Malloy said.

In the instant lottery, the gold foil will cover five boxes. One lists the potential prize and another listed a number called the key. When any one of the numbers in remaining three boxes matches the key number, the ticketholder wins the prize that's listed—$2, $5, $200, $500, $1,000 or $10,000.

If all three numbers match the key, the holder becomes eligible for a drawing in which each participant will win at least $15,000 and will have a chance at "super prizes" of $250,000, $500,000 or $1 million.

The instant game, expected to run 8

to 12 weeks, will average two winners for every 17 tickets and will replace the current "Spirit of '76" in which the last drawing will be June 17.

The Pot O' Gold contest tickets will bear a finalist number designating those who will become part of a weekly television competition pool if the claim is presented within one week, Malloy said.

Then from the pool, six will be selected to compete for prizes of $25,000 or $250,000. The four who win neither award will get $5,000 each. Those in the pool who aren't among the six selected for the telecast will get a $500 each.

They'll Do It Every Time

Jackson Campaign Still Alive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — His active campaigning has stopped. But Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson's presidential campaign is still alive, and he will appear on Ohio's June 8 Democratic primary ballot.

Jackson made few appearances in Ohio even before dropping from the active campaign. A fund-raising dinner in Lancaster was scheduled the day he dropped from the race, a victim of the early primaries. Instead of campaigning in Ohio, Jackson was in his native Washington, announcing his withdrawal.

His Ohio campaign manager, Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, says that Jackson is still in the race and that he hopes Jackson will return to Ohio before election day.

Jackson, 63, is a veteran politician. He was first elected to Congress in 1940 and has been a senator from the State of Washington since 1952. He was an unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1972.

On the domestic front, Jackson has proposed a $20 billion public works project to reduce unemployment, "certainly by 1 per cent or more." In a March 30 interview with the New York Times, Jackson said the $20 billion "would embrace many areas, but specifically schools, hospitals, water quality treatment plants.... I'd have the federal government take over the ownership of the railroad beds and rebuild those railroad beds and lease them back...."

He says the $20 billion would provide "the emergency stimulation that's needed to restore confidence...." That would be followed by a second phase "centered around a national energy mobilization board which, over a period of 15 years, would be the main source of economic growth." Jackson also has proposed a six-point plan that he says would "save American cities."

The plan includes federal takeover of funding of the welfare system; national health insurance for all citizens; increasing the federal share of aid to education from 7 per cent to one-third; setting a goal in the building industry of 2.6 million new dwelling units per year; providing federal insurance of municipal bonds and implementing a federal program aimed at full employment.

In an April interview, Jackson said it was correct to say that he sees a larger role for the federal government in a Jackson administration.

"I don't buy the argument that because something is big, it's bad," he said. "I think the key here is, how do you handle very large programs in the more humane manner, that is, designed in such a way that there are action-forcing procedures in which the local citizens could be involved."

On taxes, Jackson has proposed a $3.4 billion plan to ease the tax burden on the elderly. It would include a property tax ceiling for the elderly, a hike from $2,760 to $4,800 in the amount that can be earned yearly without losing Social Security benefits, and an income tax credit for the elderly.

In energy policy, Jackson has proposed a National Energy Mobilization Board to use an estimated $2 billion annual income from offshore oil leases to underwrite private efforts to develop other energy sources. He favors continued federal controls on domestic oil and gas prices.

On school busing, Jackson advocates federal legislation creating special three-judge courts to determine the effect busing would have on the quality of education and to demonstrate first that other desegregation efforts would not be effective.

The bill would limit busing orders to remedying specific instances of segregation. In 1972 Jackson supported a constitutional amendment to ban busing.

Jackson says he personally opposes abortion except where the mother's life or health is threatened. He also opposes a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortion but believes the states should have the power to enact legislation regulating abortion.

In foreign affairs, Jackson has been a critic of détente with the Soviet Union. He says the United States was exploited in grain sales and other commercial deals involved with détente.

He says he recognizes the Soviets need food and technological help, but adds, "I would say to them, we will help you with these needs provided that you join us in achieving a reduction of arms and the freer movement of people. That should be the basis of détente."

He also has proposed a massive rebuilding of the U.S. Navy, from the present 477 ships to 650 to 700 ships. He claims the United States is dangerously behind the Soviets in naval power, outnumbered in surface ships and conventional submarines and about to be surpassed in ballistic missile subs.

One of Israel's staunchest backers, Jackson says he would continue support and perhaps expand it. He advocates negotiations to create a demilitarized zone in the Sinai Desert and perhaps along the Golan Heights to give Israel stable and defensible borders.

He also says both sides in the Mideast disputes and the United States should be enlisted in long term project to improve the plight of displaced Palestinians.

Site Urged For Tailings

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A midway site about 20 miles from the Reserve Mining Company taconite plant was recommended today as a tailings disposal site by hearing officer Wayne H. Olson.

Olson's recommendations, which are not binding, were forwarded to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and the state Pollution Control Agency.

Reserve had said during the lengthy hearings that it would consider closing down its processing plant at Silver Bay on Lake Superior if the Milepost 7 site—only four miles inland—was not chosen for on-land disposal of taconite tailings.

There was no immediate comment from Reserve officials after Olson's decision was announced.

Reserve discharges up to 67,000 tons of tailings daily into Lake Superior and has been ordered by federal courts to switch to an on land disposal site.

Phone Rate Hike Ordered By High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today ordered a rate hike for the portion of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio service area previously served by Northern Ohio Telephone Co.

The court in a 7-0 decision said the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio was wrong in setting the rate of return for the area to match the rate of return for the full General Telephone service area.

Ohio Northern, in a 1973 rate hike request, asked for a return of 10.7 per cent on its statutory rate base. Utility rates are figured by taking the rate base—the amount of money the utility has put into its facilities—and adding a percentage figure for profit—the rate of return. The resulting figure, plus an allotment for operating expenses, is divided among the customers.

In the Ohio Northern case, the PUCO instead ruled that an 8.57 per cent rate of return was fair and reasonable. However, the PUCO also noted that Ohio Northern had merged with General Telephone, and that General's rate of return was 7.14 per cent.

Citing state law forbidding "discriminatory or preferential rates," the PUCO said the Ohio Northern service area could have only a 7.14 per cent rate of return.

The Supreme Court, in reversing that decision, said the PUCO misread the law. The court said the law "proscribes discriminatory rates, but does not prohibit a variance in the rate of return for different service areas of one company."

The court order the PUCO to set new rates based on the 8.57 per cent rate of return.

Jackson Campaign Still Alive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — His active campaigning has stopped. But Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson's presidential campaign is still alive, and he will appear on Ohio's June 8 Democratic primary ballot.

Jackson made few appearances in Ohio even before dropping from the active campaign. A fund-raising dinner in Lancaster was scheduled the day he dropped from the race, a victim of the early primaries. Instead of campaigning in Ohio, Jackson was in his native Washington, announcing his withdrawal.

His Ohio campaign manager, Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, says that Jackson is still in the race and that he hopes Jackson will return to Ohio before election day.

Jackson, 63, is a veteran politician. He was first elected to Congress in 1940 and he has been a senator from the State of Washington since 1952. He was an unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1972.

On the domestic front, Jackson has proposed a $20 billion public works project to reduce unemployment, "certainly by 1 per cent or more." In a March 30 interview with the New York Times, Jackson said the $20 billion "would embrace many areas, but specifically schools, hospitals, water quality treatment plants.... I'd have the federal government take over the ownership of the railroad beds and rebuild those railroad beds and lease them back...."

He says the $20 billion would provide "the emergency stimulation that's needed to restore confidence...." That would be followed by a second phase "centered around a national energy mobilization board which, over a period of 15 years, would be the main source of economic growth."

Jackson also has proposed a six-point plan that he says would "save American cities."

The plan includes federal takeover of funding of the welfare system; national health insurance for all citizens; increasing the federal share of aid to education from 7 per cent to one-third; setting a goal in the building industry of 2.6 million new dwelling units per year; providing federal insurance of municipal bonds and implementing a federal program aimed at full employment.

In an April interview, Jackson said it was correct to say that he sees a larger role for the federal government in a Jackson administration.

"I don't buy the argument that because something is big, it's bad," he said. "I think the key here is, how do you handle very large programs in the more humane manner, that is, designed in such a way that there are action-forcing procedures in which the local citizens could be involved."

On taxes, Jackson has proposed a $3.4 billion plan to ease the tax burden on the elderly. It would include a property tax ceiling for the elderly, a hike from $2,760 to $4,800 in the amount that can be earned yearly without losing Social Security benefits, and an income tax credit for the elderly.

In energy policy, Jackson has proposed a National Energy Mobilization Board to use an estimated $2 billion annual income from offshore oil leases to underwrite private efforts to develop other energy sources. He favors continued federal controls on domestic oil and gas prices.

On school busing, Jackson advocates federal legislation creating special three-judge courts to determine the effect busing would have on the quality of education and to demonstrate first that other desegregation efforts would not be effective.

The bill would limit busing orders to remedying specific instances of segregation. In 1972 Jackson supported a constitutional amendment to ban busing.

Jackson says he personally opposes abortion except where the mother's life or health is threatened. He also opposes a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortion but believes the states should have the power to enact legislation regulating abortion.

In foreign affairs, Jackson has been a critic of detente with the Soviet Union. He says the United States was exploited in grain sales and other commercial deals involved with detente.

He says he recognizes the Soviets need food and technological help, but adds, "I would say to them, we will help you with these needs provided that you join us in achieving a reduction of arms and the freer movement of people. That should be the basis of detente."

He also has proposed a massive rebuilding of the U.S. Navy, from the present 477 ships to 650 to 700 ships. He claims the United States is dangerously behind the Soviets in naval power, outnumbered in surface ships and conventional submarines and about to be surpassed in ballistic missile subs.

One of Israel's staunchest backers, Jackson says he would continue support and perhaps expand it. He advocates negotiations to create a demilitarized zone in the Sinai Desert and perhaps along the Golan Heights to give Israel stable and defensible borders.

He also says both sides in the Mideast disputes and the United States should be enlisted in long term project to improve the plight of displaced Palestinians.

Miss Monique Jacobs Weds Michael Frazier

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL FRAZIER

St. Philip's Episcopal Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Monique Jacobs and Mr. Michael Frazier, 6:30 p.m., May 7.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Jacobs, Route 5, Circleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Frazier, Route 1, Stoutsville.

The Rev. Merrick A. Danforth performed the double ring service before the altar adorned with arrangements of assorted spring flowers. White bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Paul Teegardin Sr., organist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. For her wedding she selected a white organza full length skirt with white venise lace at the high neckline, down the front of the bodice and at each side of the A-

Nazarene Church Seniors Honored

The Fellowship Building of Circleville Church of the Nazarene was decorated as a summer garden in which the graduating seniors of the church were honored with a semi-formal banquet Saturday evening. Guest speaker was the Rev. David Lattimer.

The graduates, their parents and members of the junior class were welcomed by Tom Sipes, Nazarene Young People's Society president. Stephen Carter, director of Teen Fellowship, gave the invocation.

Following dinner Mrs. Kristian Hubbard read a poem entitled "We May Never Pass This Way" and Rev. Lattimer used as his topic "Ya Gotta Wanna." The Rev. William Hill, pastor of the church, offered a dedicatory prayer in closing the evening's events.

The summer garden effect was obtained by sealing out all natural light and installing a mylar canopy for the ceiling. Around the perimeter were brick bordered flower beds containing real and artificial flowers, ivy and trees. Indirect light was focused on the flowers. Points of interest were created with a wishing well, an ivy covered entrance arch and a large pool with a fountain.

The evening was arranged and directed by Mrs. Olive Hoagland. Guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. John Neff Sr., John Neff Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson, Michael Anderson, Mrs. James Allen, Miss Robin Gumm, Miss Nellie Thacker, Brent Park, Mark Stimpert, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hubbard, Rev. and Mrs. William Hill, Rev. and Mrs. David Lattimer, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sipes, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Carter.

Serving the guests were Miss Susan Thompson, Mrs. Charlene Fouch, Mrs. Barbara Stimpert, Harvey Hoagland and Mrs. Pat Manson.

'God's Garden' Mother-Daughter Dinner Theme

"God's Garden" was the theme for the Mother-Daughter Dinner in the Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church on Sunday night. White iron furniture and flowers in one corner of the dining room and tables decorated with summer hats created an atmosphere of a garden party. Name tags were gaily decorated little summer hats.

Mrs. Larry Blum, president of Trinity Women of the Church, welcomed all present, commenting that each person was a flower in God's garden. She led the singing of "Shalom" and "We Gather Together" before dinner, which was prepared and served by Larry Roman and his committee of Men of the Church.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Ralph Cummins and daughter, Gayle, sang "April Showers", accompanied by Mrs. Richard Fisher at the piano. Renee Partee and Lisa Fausnaugh, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Partee, entertained with their selections of "Our Best To You" and "For Mother."

Gifts of flowers were awarded to Mrs. Ervin Kocher, the oldest lady present and the one bringing the most guests; Mrs. John Eitel Sr., the mother with the most family present; Mrs. Mildred Hicks, who traveled the greatest distance; Mrs. Michael Lorentz and Mrs. Larry Roman, the shortest and tallest, respectively, and little Miss Karen Kowalski, the youngest daughter present.

In closing, the group sang the hymn, "In The Garden" and "Good Night Ladies." Arrangements for the program and decorations were under the direction of Mrs. William Hulse.

CB Club Makes Father's Day Plans

Roundtown Citizen Band Club held its May meeting recently at the Senior Center. Plans were made for Father's Day. Sue Lockard and Mildren Davis were appointed to the committee in charge of special projects each month.

Present were Irma Iles, Marvene Young, Carolyn Davis, Anne Ramey, Ruth Andrews, Carol Smallwood, Pauline Davis, Mildred Davis, Sue Lockard and Carol Renkel, a guest for the evening.

Games were played with prizes awarded to Carol Renkel, Carolyn Davis, Sue Lockard and Ruth Andrews. Irma Iles won the door prize brought by Opal Barnhart.

Committee members for the games and refreshments were Anne Ramey, Carol Smallwood, Mildred Davis and Pauline Davis.

Ohioan Top Best-Sellers Author

KETTERING, Ohio (AP) — Author John Jakes recently became the first writer to have three books listed among the New York Times' top 10 paperback bestsellers in one year.

The books, all novels part of a bicentennial series, are The Seekers, The Rebels and The Furies.

Another novel, The Bastard, never made it to the bestseller list. It was the first of the series. A fifth novel is in the works.

In all, four million copies are in print.

Jakes said people find it hard to believe that a nationally recognized writer could come from this suburb of Dayton. At times, he said, even people from the area give him the same reaction of disbelief.

"It seems to be a widespread and peculiar feeling, and I can't understand it," Jakes said. "I ran into it with radio and TV interviewers on the road, that no writer could possibly live in Dayton, Ohio."

"I find it very strange. I guess they think you're supposed to live in St. Moritz or someplace like that."

Recalling a time when he was checking some research books at the downtown Dayton library and hadn't bothered to shave, Jakes said: "The lady on the desk, a nice lady, she said, 'Oh, that's the same name as the man that writes that series. Are you related to him by any chance?'"

"And I said, 'I'm the one who does it.' She didn't believe me. And I let it go at that."

Jakes said he was more proud of having three books on the Times' list "than I am of The Furies making No. 1."

CASE NO. 75-26115-A

In the pursuance of the order of the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, we will offer for sale at public auction on the 14th day of June, 1976 at 2:00 o'clock P.M. at the door of the Pickaway County Court House the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Circleville, in the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio and bounded and described as follows:
Being 35 feet off the west side of the premises deeded to S. M. Lewis by J. H. Lynch and wife and found in Book 53, page 451, Pickaway County record of deeds and for further description as follows: Tract No. 2 Beginning at a stake in the south line of Town Street N 68 degrees W 75 feet from the west line of Pickaway Street; thence S 22 degrees W 165 feet to a stake on the south side of a 10 foot roadway; thence N 68 degrees W 75 1/2 feet to the middle of a 11 foot roadway; thence with the middle of said roadway N 22 degrees E. 165 feet to the south line of Town Street; thence with the south line of Town Street S 68 degrees E 75 1/2 feet to the beginning, containing 45-5-4 poles of land and being a part of the northwest quarter of Section No. 30, Township No. 11, Range 21, W. S. Reserving 10 feet in width off the south side and 5 1/2 feet in width off the west side for a roadway; the strip herein conveyed contains 21-7-33 poles of land, more or less.

Said premises are located at 159 Town Street, Circleville, Ohio 43113. Said premises are appraised at $9,000.00 and must be sold for not less than two-thirds of said appraised value; the terms of sale are cash, ten per cent (10 per cent) of the purchase price payable on the day of sale and the balance of the purchase price payable within thirty (30) days.

When he began the series, it was intended to be five books. Then Jakes suggested adding a sixth and the publisher contracted with him for a seventh and eighth.

He has written children's books, science fiction and historical novels. But he said he had never placed himself in any certain category of writing.

"And I thought that was one of my problems because every successful writer seemed to have a slot in which he or she fit naturally," he said.

Jakes already has a copy of the cover for his fifth book, The Titans. "That's the bind we're in," he said. "I've got the cover and they haven't got the book. They were going to publish in April. And I lost a month at the end of the year (when) I was in the hospital for a week with an ulcer."

Jakes' normal working day is from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. But that is extended to seven days a week when he's behind in writing.

"Instead of the usual pattern of writing the book and promoting it and then relaxing, I haven't had time to relax because as each book comes on the market, the demand from the retailer gets stronger for the next one. And the publisher doesn't let up," he said.

"That's the pitfall in the series," the writer said. "It's a nice pitfall, but people want the next one."

The Women's Missionary meeting was held along with their mother-daughter meeting at the Laurel Hills Church on last Thursday evening. The vice president, Mrs. Betsy Swepston, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ruth Notestone.

Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Hattie Karr and members and visitors were welcomed by the Rev. Betty Wintermute. During the program, readings were given by Mrs. Jacque Bigham, Nelle Swackhammer and Celesta Hoy. Miss Anjanette Maxson and Miss Sandy Swackhammer each played a piano solo.

Mrs. Doris Disbennett gave a talk on the missionary offering which was to be sent to a missionary family in Africa. A special number was sung by the girls trio, Sandy Swackhammer, Melinda Hupp and Anjanette Maxson, accompanied by Mrs. Carol Tatman. Pianist for the meeting was Mrs. Phyllis Ross. Hymns sung by the congregation were "Love Divine," "Faith of our Mothers" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Closing prayer was by the Rev. Wintermute. Several three and four generation groups were present and Mrs. Ella Williams took pictures of them. A fellowship hour and refreshments were enjoyed in the social room following the meeting.

The Bethany community lost a good friend and neighbor with the death of Mrs. Earnest (Clara) Cox, of Route 1, Laurelville who died at her home on Saturday. She had been ill for some time and had returned to her home on the preceding Tuesday from Doctor's Hospital where she had been a patient for several weeks.

She is survived by her husband and five children, Evelyn of the home; Mrs. Bernadine Sutton of Newport, Tenn.; Ralph, Leonard and Lawrence, all of Route 1, Laurelville; 22 grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren; one brother, Lloyd Julian; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Motsch and Mrs. Emma Stephens.

Funeral services were held at the Taylor Funeral home in Amanda on Tuesday at 1:30 with burial in the Bethany Cemetery.

The Rev. Fred Wintermute, who had surgery last week in Columbus, is recuperating at his home here.

Edgar DeLong of Route 1, Laurelville, reentered Berger Hospital Sunday after being at home for a week. Mrs. Dan (Theta) DeLong of Route 2, who underwent surgery last week was released from Berger Hospital on Sunday.

Mrs. Sam Eveland (Pamela Karr) and baby daughter of Route 1, Laurelville, have been dismissed from Berger Hospital.

John Anderson of Route 1, South Bloomingville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson of near South Perry, was transferred from Logan Hospital to University Hospital, Columbus, last Saturday. He is a patient in Means Hall, room 347.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Notestone entertained with a dinner at their home on Sunday honoring their nephew, Damon Notestone who graduated recently from Ohio University with a degree in business administration. He has accepted a position with the office of auditor of the State of Ohio.

Those present for the dinner included the honored guest, his fiancée, Miss Lisa Vagner; his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Notestone; his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Notestone and son Mickey; and his brother-in-law and sister, Jeff and Diana Notestone and their children Jodi and Jamie.

Mrs. Maxine VanCuren was an afternoon visitor.

Mrs. Golda Paxton and Mrs. Ruth Notestone were among the senior citizen group who enjoyed a trip to Michigan last week from Tuesday until Friday. They visited Holland, Grand Rapids and Frankenmuth, Michigan. They report the tulips in Holland are a beautiful sight and they enjoyed seeing the magnificent Lutheran Church in Frankenmuth. They also saw Lake Michigan on their tour.

Mrs. Lucile Hartsaugh received word last week of the death of a cousin, Mrs. Myrtle (Mathias) Goddard of Columbus. She was also related to the Mathias families near Logan. Besides cousins, she is survived by a niece, Mrs. Jerry Spears Jr. of Columbus and a nephew, Ralph McDaniel of West Virginia. Funeral services were held for Mrs. Goddard on May 17 in Columbus.

Mrs. Franklin Strous was surprised on Saturday evening when members of her family dropped in to help celebrate her birthday. Joining her were Mrs. Zola Flanigan, Mr. and Mrs. Clendell Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Strous, her husband Franklin and children Steve, Tracy and Kathy. Wilma is like some more of us, she is 39 and holding — she just hasn't been holding as long.

Mrs. Lee Reynolds, local registrar, tells me she will be open to sell tags all day on Thursday of this week. All registrar offices will be closed for the Memorial Day holiday on Monday. Saturday will be absolutely the last day to get your new tags for your car.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hupp and Pat, Melinda and Terry of Whisler were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hupp of Circleville, Mrs. Zola Flanigan and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hupp and son Aaron of Laurelville. The occasion was to help Pat celebrate his 14th birthday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards who has been a patient in Lancaster Hospital for some time has returned to her home in Laurelville. She is being cared for by Mrs. Helen Harmon who has been with her for the past nine years.

Another May 24th has passed and most Laurelville residents remembered that was the day eight years ago when the devastating flood about washed us off the map. As the cute bread commercial on TV says that flood really "put us out of business" for awhile.

Rhodes Signs Tricycle Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Kids can legally ride their tricycles on sidewalks once again and senior citizens and the handicapped may obtain identification cards under legislation signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Effective immediately, an inadvertent, two-year-old ban on children's tricycles is repealed, thanks to a bill sponsored by Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville.

The prohibition was written into the 1974 uniform traffic safety code and discovered by legislative researchers late that year. The new corrected law, signed Tuesday, also permits large tricycles and bicycles on sidewalks, unless outlawed by local ordinances.

A bill, authored by Sen. Harry Meshe, D-33 Youngstown, requires the Bureau of Motor Vehicles to issue voluntary identification cards to handicapped persons between 17 and 65 and elderly citizens over 65 at a charge of $2.50.

The strictly voluntary cards would be offered as a means of providing users with an easy credit reference similar to driver's licenses. Rhodes vetoed a similar bill that would have authorized such cards for anyone over 18 who did not have a driver's license.

The bill takes effect Aug. 24 along with another measure barring indiscriminate destruction and desecration of prehistoric Indian burial mounds.

Sponsored by Rep. John M. Scott, R-63 Fairborn, the legislation would establish an Archaeological Landmark Registry for valuable mounds and earthworks.

Desecration or sale of artifacts or skeletal remains from sites voluntarily placed on the registry by owners would be outlawed.

In addition, the bill authorizes the Ohio Historical Society to offer tax exemptions to owners of particularly valuable sites who agree to dedicate their land as an archaeological preserve.

An archaeologist and an American Indian will be added to the Ohio Historical Site Preservation Board under provisions of the bill.

Rhodes also signed effective immediately a bill sponsored by Rep. Allan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, correcting a loophole in the law that could have permitted shock probation for murderers. The legislation was in response to an Ohio Supreme Court ruling earlier this year that there were no limits on granting of shock probation, similar to limits for regular probation.

Under the amended law, murderers, repeat or dangerous offenders or those convicted of gun-related offenses will no longer be eligible for the waiver of sentence program.

The governor also signed effective Aug. 24:

—A bill sponsored by Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., D-25 Cleveland, restricting the release of information about public school pupils, without the consent of a parent or the youngster.

—Legislation sponsored by Meshe making county boards of education eligible for state subsidies for school buses to transport handicapped children to special education classes.

—A measure offered by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, providing immunity from liability to members of peer review committees or professional organizations for actions taken by an entire committee.

—Celebrezze's bill permitting psychologists to form professional organizations.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

The Derby United Methodist Church Services will be held at 9:15 a.m., and the church school will be at 10:30 a.m. The minister will be the Rev. Larry Zellars.

The May 16 service was a special Old Time Religion Service with special choir music including Old Time Hymns; "Wayfaring Stranger," "Nobody Knows," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Old Time Religion," and special Anthem, "When They Ring Those Golden Bells."

Francis Zellars gave the special children's sermon and the Rev. Zellars' sermon was titled "The Sign Of Jonah."

The Derby Youth Group sponsored a senior citizens dinner at the Derby Methodist Church on May 8. Twenty-six attended and eight dinners were delivered. They had white tablecloths and they ate by candlelight. They played Bingo afterward. A great time was enjoyed by all who were present. The Derby Youth Group and leaders wish to express a special thanks to the adults and to everyone who donated and helped with the dinner.

There will be a wiener roast June 6 at Derby United Methodist Church. Everyone is welcome for an evening of fun and fellowship. There will be more details later.

May 30 is designated as Student Day

Say Pressure Brought Pullout By Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure from many African countries and possibly the Soviet Union prompted Cuba's decision to begin removing its 15,000 troops from Angola, U.S. officials say.

Ford Thinks Hays Woes Contained

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford says he does not think that Wayne Hays' affair with a woman staff committee member will adversely affect him or incumbents in the 1976 congressional race.

"Those who are not involved, I don't think, will be adversely affected," Ford told a news conference Wednesday during a campaign stop in Columbus. "I think that, as far as I know, one individual is involved. I can't see how it would be detrimental to those who have no part or have had no connection with it."

Ford said he had not requested the Justice Department probe into whether the 65-year-old Democratic congressman from Ohio paid Elizabeth Ray $14,000 a year from government funds to be his mistress. Miss Ray, 33, has charged she performed no duties as a House Administration Committee staffer. Hays has admitted he had sexual relations with her, but has denied he kept her on the payroll for that purpose.

"The Justice Department," Ford said, "is headed by a very able attorney general, and I am sure if he or his associates feel there has been any violation of law under his oath of office, he will undertake that responsibility."

Ford was also asked if he felt that the prospects of a House investigation of Hays' conduct would fuel what seems to be an anti-Washington establishment tenor to the Carter and Reagan campaigns and how it would affect him.

at the Derby Church. Holy Communion will be observed June 13 at Derby, and the administrative board meeting will be June 22 at Derby at 7:30 p.m.

Special thoughts go to those who are sick and recuperating: Laura McMillen, Minnie Ridgway, Herman and Mary Rowland, Raleigh Conley, Mary Grabill, Carl Hosler, and Kit C. Roberts, would all like to be remembered with cards and letters.

Mrs. Georgia Sweet is in Mt. Carmel Hospital at this writing, and would like to hear from all her friends and neighbors. She is in room 476B, Mt. Carmel Medical Center. She is receiving visitors now and is very much improved. She underwent surgery for a badly dislocated shoulder on May 21, and is now doing well.

Special note to Mrs. Sweet; all your friends and neighbors in Derby wish you a speedy recovery.

News will be written by her daughter, Sue Gillespie, until she returns home.

Rob Rackham is in Mt. Carmel Hospital, and would like to be remembered with cards and letters.

Junior choir practice will be June 9 and 16, at 6:30 at the Derby Church. Attendance at the Derby United Methodist Church for Sunday May 23 was 86.

at the rate of about 200 a week, is viewed here as an effort by Cuba to recoup some of the diplomatic ground it appears to have lost in Africa as a result of continuing military involvement.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference Tuesday in Luxembourg that the Cuban decision was a "positive development." A partial Cuban withdrawal from Angola would be insufficient and there was no possibility of any renewed U.S. interest in normalizing relations with Havana until all Cuban troops have gone home, he said.

Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme told Kissinger Monday of Cuba's plans. Two months ago, there was widespread belief in official circles here that Cuba, using Angola as a springboard, was poised to assist Rhodesian rebels in their struggle against the white supremacist regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

But officials said Tuesday that Cuba apparently has taken into account the growing consensus among African countries that the issue of white minority rule in Rhodesia and elsewhere in southern Africa should be resolved by black Africans themselves.

They say this sentiment is shared by centrist African countries like Zambia as well as leftist nations such as Tanzania and Mozambique.

Under the withdrawal plan, Cuban troops will be leaving Angola at a much slower rate than they went in. This presumably will permit the Cubans to assist the leftist government in Luanda in consolidating power. The Cubans also may leave a limited number of military and other technical advisers in Angola permanently.

A senior official in the Kissinger party indicated this would not be inconsistent with American demands for a complete pullout.

Kissinger warned recently that the Soviet-Cuban intervention in Africa endangered global peace. At one point he refused to rule out a U.S. invasion of Cuba if Cuba ignited a race war in southern Africa.

In southern Angola the government controls the cities and the railroads, but the countryside is still in the hands of the National Union faction, which remains hostile to the Angolan regime.

Officials do not discard the possibility that Cuba may decide to halt the withdrawal if continued resistance by the National Union poses a threat to the Luanda government's authority.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Morris K. Udall, the lanky congressman from Arizona, has fought hard in Ohio for the Democratic presidential nomination, and vows to continue the fight to election day.

The surviving self-avowed "progressive" in the Democratic contest, Udall has made multiple trips to Ohio—two trips last week alone, two more days already this week—and he is scheduled here again Friday to speak before the Cleveland City Club.

He is campaigning openly against Jimmy Carter now, claiming to be charging back after poor showings in the early primaries. He has won no elections to date, but his losses in Michigan and Wisconsin were ex-cruciatingly close.

Udall, 53, worked his way through law school playing professional basketball with the Denver Nuggets. He was first elected to Congress in 1961 in a special election to replace his brother Stewart, who resigned to become interior secretary in the Kennedy Administration.

Udall has proposed an 18-month crash program to create five million jobs, reducing the unemployment rate to three per cent and creating a permanent full-employment mechanism.

He says the program would cost $11 billion to $12 billion for the initial phase, but less as welfare and unemployment benefit payments drop and the new job holders pay taxes. He has not specified the continuing cost.

"We are big and resourceful enough to say that every American who wants to go to work is going to have a job," Udall says.

He says councils of labor, management and city officials would devise ways to create jobs with those who can't get private jobs working "in local communities helping the police and in day care centers, hospital and schools and rebuilding cities and railroads."

He says full employment is not necessarily inflationary, citing a 2.9 per cent inflation rate with a 3.9 per cent unemployment rate during the 1964-68 Democratic administration. He says if full employment does cause inflation, he would use "jawboning" and, if necessary, wage and price controls to control it.

Udall says added deficits must be expected to end the economic slump and says federal spending is relatively consistent with the rise in the gross national product.

Udall favors federalizing the welfare system, adopting national health insurance and implementing a national housing policy with emphasis on recycling existing buildings.

In energy policy, Udall has called for a national commitment to cut energy consumption growth to two per cent a year from the present 4.5 per cent. He has called for a tax on autos that get less than 20 miles per gallon, and a 15 per cent cut in industrial energy consumption through insulation and efficient building design.

He is sponsoring a bill in the Congress to break up the "energy conglomerates," limiting them to one phase of production instead of all phases from well to pump. He also authored the strip mining control bill vetoed by President Ford.

He has proposed spending $2 billion for nonnuclear energy research to increase federal programs in conservation, waste disposal and solar energy. He says the 50 nuclear power plants now under construction should be completed, but that no new ones should be started.

He also has called for reform of the utility regulatory system to "serve the needs of the consumers, not just executives and stockholders." He says the government should deal directly with foreign producers, rather than the companies.

On school busing, Udall says he would require each state to devise a plan for reducing racial isolation and achieving equal educational opportunities, allowing for no more than one year for planning and five years for execution, with financial penalties for delay or evasion. He has opposed a constitutional amendment against busing.

Udall supported the Supreme Court decision on abortion, saying the abortion controversy boils down to a question of freedom of choice for all citizens.

In foreign affairs and national defense, Udall says the United States should vigorously push detente with the Soviet Union while "remembering that the relaxation of tension is not the same thing as normal relations, and that there are strong economic imperatives pushing the Soviet Union along its present course."

"In future dealings with Russia, our economic advantages should be exploited to the fullest," he says.

He says relations with Nationalist China should be downgraded, that the United States should "have the ambassador in Peking and the legation in Taipei."

Udall says he would cut the defense budget by 10 to 15 per cent. He said last month that he opposes the Trident submarine program.

"You run very deadly risks by letting this arms race escalate," he said. He said he would tell the Soviets: "We're not going to put in the Trident submarine. The one we've got is good enough. We're going to hold it and hold the line awhile."

A strong supporter of Israel, Udall says the United States should push for direct talks between Israel, Jordan and the elected representatives of West Bank inhabitants to create a new Palestinian states.

Udall also has described recognition of Cuba as long overdue.

New Scanner Checks Out Prize Tickets

CLEVELAND (AP) — The new instant game that will provide results as quickly as one could rub an Aladdin's lamp could have bogged down the whole operation if it weren't for an innovation, Ohio's executive lottery director says.

Gerald J. Patronite said Wednesday that instead, it will become the first among state-run lotteries to use optical scanning equipment, a device for rapid readings of magnetic recording tape. Patronite said other states offering an instant game found themselves swamped by the volume of winners, forcing those states to resort to spot checks on tickets winning the smaller prizes.

Some six million winners are expected in Ohio during the game's run of eight to 12 weeks, he said. But with the scanners, Ohio will be able to validate all the winning tickets, Patronite added.

Patronite said the scanners can record about 24,000 tickets per hour or 576,000 in three days, compared with the 65,000 which 14 aides can process in that time span now.

The Ohio Lottery Commission has authorized issuing up to 55 million tickets to go sale beginning June 15. Patronite said six to eight million tickets will be sold per week.

But instant results won't always mean instant money, Patronite said. He said that as in other Ohio lottery games, winners of prizes larger than $20 will have to wait for the checks issued by the state treasurer.

So instant lottery winners of prizes over $20 will have to settle for the thrill of the moment—because the process of distributing the larger sums can take as long as five weeks, officials say.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Smooth Operator Dials Right Number

DEAR ABBY: I'm a long distance telephone operator, and I must have a very appealing telephone voice because many men have asked if they could meet me. I never was tempted because I thought, "What kind of a creep would want to make a date with a girl he has never seen and knows nothing about?"

Well, a few months ago I got a man on the line who was trying desperately to locate his brother. I must have called 10 places, and he wasn't at any of them. The poor man sounded so unhappy and frustrated, then he expressed his sincere appreciation for my cooperation.

I liked his manner, and he said he liked my voice because it had a "smile" in it. To make a long story short, I broke all the rules and agreed to meet him. (Don't say where this letter is from because I could get fired.)

We are going together now, but when people ask me how I met him, what should I say? Sign me...

"SMOOTH OPERATOR" DEAR SMOOTH: Put that "smile" in your voice and tell your inquisitive party to dial "information."

DEAR ABBY: Here's a switch for you: Why should a married man who is seeing another girl on the side (me) keep telling me what a wonderful lover his wife is?

If she's so wonderful, what am I doing in the picture?

PUZZLED DEAR PUZZLED: Maybe he's trying to get you to try harder because you're No. 2.

DEAR ABBY: My son who is in junior high school has an English teacher who must have a warped sense of humor. She recently gave her students an assignment, of which I think you should be aware.

She asked them to write a "Dear Abby" letter and she told them to make them as wild and far-out as possible, but also to make them believable.

I don't know the literary value she thinks there is to this kind of creative writing. I imagine by this time, you have become an expert at detecting the phony letters, but I want to warn you that about 40 of them will be coming your way soon.

This is modern education? RAT FINK MOTHER IN CLEVELAND

DEAR FINK: No matter how "wild" the students' phony letters are, they couldn't possibly match some of the authentic ones I receive.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law and I have been having a difference of opinion about something that deals with a sexual matter.

I have never regarded sex as "dirty," but I don't think small children belong in their parents' bedroom when the parents are having relations.

My brother and his wife have a 3-year-old son who is allowed in their bedroom while they are making love. In fact, they boast about their openness and "healthy attitude" about sex. They say it is "beautiful" and see no reason to keep it hidden as though it were a crime or something to be ashamed of.

Maybe I am wrong, but it just doesn't seem right to me. Neither my brother nor his wife is stupid, so I can't understand their thinking. Please ask your experts if I am wrong or my brother is.

ANONYMOUS DEAR ANONYMOUS: I don't have to ask my experts to say that I agree with you. Although sexual relations may be beautiful, they are (or should be) a private affair.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that United Telephone Company of Ohio has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application stating that the Company is entitled, because of the reasons set forth in said Application, to reasonable and equitable increases and adjustments in its rates and charges for local exchange telephone service, to change the regulations and practices affecting the same, and to cancel and withdraw portions of its existing tariffs. General Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 3 and Local Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 4, and to substitute therefore proposed portions of its General Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 3 and Local Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 4, to effect such increases, adjustments and changes, all as more fully set forth in the Application on file with the Commission and in the exhibits thereto attached and made a part thereof.

The proposed schedule of rates and charges and the changes and revisions applied for in the Application will, if approved by the Commission, provide the Company approximately $17,500,000 in additional annual gross revenue or a 7.9% rate of return on the Company's rate base. The proposed schedule of rates and charges, if approved, will result in an average 33.7% increase in basic exchange rates for residential services and an average 35.4% increase in basic exchange rates for business services. Certain proposed increases of rates and charges are greater or less than such averages. For example, residential one-party service is proposed to be increased 38.2% on the average, while residential four-party service would increase 29.8% on the average. Private branch-exchange key system, and miscellaneous equipment rates are also increased and details are available at any public business office of the Company.

The proposed changes and revisions include classification of certain exchanges under a different rate schedule due to a significant growth in main telephone stations since the last approved classification. In addition, the Company proposes increases and adjustments in many other of its communication services. For example, installation charges are proposed to be increased 17%, and local pay station calls are proposed to be increased from 10 cents to 20 cents per call. The Company also proposes a charge for directory assistance for those customers who use the service more than three times per month, in the amount of 20 cents per call. Listed below are the Company's present rates, proposed rates, and proposed rate increases by rate schedule and class of service, and a classification of exchanges by present and proposed rate schedules.

The proposed tariff revisions will effect increases, and adjustments in rates and charges and changes in the regulations and practices affecting the same throughout the territory in which the Company operates. The prayer of the Application requests the Commission to do the following:

A. Find that the present rates and charges are insufficient to yield reasonable compensation for the service rendered and are unjust and unreasonable.

B. Find that proposed rates and charges and the changes, adjustments and revisions applied for in said Application are just and reasonable and approve the same.

C. Approve the filing of the proposed tariffs in the form attached to and incorporated in the Application, modified to reflect such revisions thereof as may become effective, pursuant to orders of the Commission, during the interim between the filing of this Application and the date upon which said proposed tariffs become effective.

D. Make said proposed tariffs effective as soon as it is practical and lawful to do so, and

E. Grant such other and further relief as Applicant is reasonably entitled to in the premises.

A copy of the Application, including a copy of the present and proposed tariffs, a statement showing the amount of proposed increase or decrease in each changed rate or charge, and a statement describing the proposed changes in regulations and practices affecting rates and charges, may be inspected by any interested party at the offices of the Commission, 111 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio, and at any public business office of the Company.

The form of this notice has been approved by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Abundant sunshine today across Ohio was to push temperatures back to more seasonal levels. Highs were to reach the 70s in all sections but the Lake Erie shore, where cool breezes from the water would hold readings to the 60s.

The fair weather will last through tonight. As a low pressure area moves south of the state Friday, some clouds will invade Ohio's borders and there is a chance of some afternoon showers or thundershowers in the southern counties.

Temperatures around the Buckeye State will remain mild through Friday with lows tonight falling to around 50 and highs Friday climbing into the 70s.

The extended outlook for the Memorial Day weekend calls for a chance of showers Saturday and again on Monday and for skies to be partly cloudy Sunday. Temperatures over the weekend will reach the 70s during the days and fall into the 50s at night.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that United Telephone Company of Ohio has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application stating that the Company is entitled, because of the reasons set forth in said Application, to reasonable and equitable increases and adjustments in its rates and charges for local exchange telephone service, to change the regulations and practices affecting the same, and to cancel and withdraw portions of its existing tariffs. General Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 3 and Local Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 4 and to substitute therefore proposed portions of its General Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 3 and Local Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 4 to effect such increases, adjustments and changes, all as more fully set forth in the Application on file with the Commission and in the exhibits thereto attached and made a part thereof.

The proposed schedule of rates and charges and the changes and revisions applied for in the Application will, if approved by the Commission, provide the Company approximately $17,500,000 in additional annual gross revenue or a 7.9% rate of return on the Company's rate base. The proposed schedule of rates and charges, if approved, will result in an average 33.7% increase in basic exchange rates for residential services and an average 35.4% increase in basic exchange rates for business services. Certain proposed increases or types of increases are greater or less than such averages. For example, residential one-party service is proposed to be increased 38.2% on the average, while residential four-party service would increase 29.8% on the average. Private branch exchange, key system, and miscellaneous equipment rates are also increased and details are available at any public business office of the Company.

The proposed changes and revisions include classification of certain exchanges under a different rate schedule due to a significant growth in main telephone stations since the last approved classification. In addition, the Company proposes increases and adjustments in many other of its communication services. For example, installation charges are proposed to be increased 17%, and local pay station calls are proposed to be increased from 10 cents to 20 cents per call. The Company also proposes a charge for directory assistance for those customers who use the service more than three times per month, in the amount of 20 cents per call. Listed below are the Company's present rates, proposed rates, and proposed rate increases by rate schedule and class of service, and a classification of exchanges by present and proposed rate schedules.

The proposed tariff revisions will effect increases and adjustments in rates and charges and changes in the regulations and practices affecting the same throughout the territory in which the Company operates.

The prayer of the Application requests the Commission to do the following:

A. Find that the present rates and charges are insufficient to yield reasonable compensation for the service rendered and are unjust and unreasonable.

New Scanner Checks Out Prize Tickets

CLEVELAND (AP) — The new instant game that will provide results as quickly as one could rub an Aladdin's lamp could have bogged down the whole operation if it weren't for an innovation, Ohio's executive lottery director says.

Gerald J. Patronite said Wednesday that instead, it will become the first among state-run lotteries to use optical scanning equipment, a device for rapid readings of magnetic recording tape.

Patronite said other states offering an instant game found themselves swamped by the volume of winners, forcing those states to resort to spot checks on tickets winning the smaller prizes.

Some six million winners are expected in Ohio during the game's run of eight to 12 weeks, he said. But with the scanners, Ohio will be able to validate all the winning tickets, Patronite added.

Patronite said the scanners can record about 24,000 tickets per hour or 576,000 in three days, compared with the 65,000 which 14 aides can process in that time span now.

The Ohio Lottery Commission has authorized issuing up to 55 million tickets to go sale beginning June 15. Patronite said six to eight million tickets will be sold per week.

But instant results won't always mean instant money, Patronite said. He said that as in other Ohio lottery games, winners of prizes larger than $20 will have to wait for the checks issued by the state treasurer.

So instant lottery winners of prizes over $20 will have to settle for the thrill of the moment—because the process of distributing the larger sums can take as long as five weeks, officials say.

B. Find that proposed rates and charges and the changes, adjustments and revisions applied for in said Application are just and reasonable and approve the same.

C. Approve the filing of the proposed tariffs in the form attached to and incorporated in the Application, modified to reflect such revisions thereof as may become effective, pursuant to orders of the Commission, during the interim between the filing of this Application and the date upon which said proposed tariffs become effective.

D. Make said proposed tariffs effective as soon as it is practical and lawful to do so, and

E. Grant such other and further relief as Applicant is reasonably entitled to in the premises.

A copy of the Application, including a copy of the present and proposed tariffs, a statement showing the amount of proposed increase or decrease in each changed rate or charge, and a statement describing the proposed changes in regulations and practices affecting rates and charges, may be inspected by any interested party at the offices of the Commission, 111 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio, and at any public business office of the Company.

Dear Abby:

Smooth Operator Dials Right Number

DEAR ABBY: I'm a long distance telephone operator, and I must have a very appealing telephone voice because many men have asked if they could meet me. I never was tempted because I thought, "What kind of a creep would want to make a date with a girl he has never seen and knows nothing about?"

Well, a few months ago I got a man on the line who was trying desperately to locate his brother. I must have called 10 places, and he wasn't at any of them. The poor man sounded so unhappy and frustrated, then he expressed his sincere appreciation for my cooperation.

I liked his manner, and he said he liked my voice because it had a "smile" in it. To make a long story short, I broke all the rules and agreed to meet him. (Don't say where this letter is from because I could get fired.)

We are going together now, but when people ask me how I met him, what should I say? Sign me...

"SMOOTH OPERATOR"
DEAR SMOOTH: Put that "smile" in your voice and tell your inquisitive party to dial "information."

DEAR ABBY: Here's a switch for you: Why should a married man who is seeing another girl on the side (me) keep telling me what a wonderful lover his wife is?

If she's so wonderful, what am I doing in the picture?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Maybe he's trying to get you to try harder because you're No. 2.

DEAR ABBY: My son who is in junior high school has an English teacher who must have a warped sense of humor. She recently gave her students an assignment, of which I think you should be aware.

She asked them to write a "Dear Abby" letter and she told them to make them as wild and far-out as possible, but also to make them believable.

I don't know the literary value she thinks there is to this kind of creative writing. I imagine by this time, you have become an expert at detecting the phony letters, but I want to warn you that about 40 of them will be Abundant sunshine today across Ohio was to push temperatures back to more seasonal levels. Highs were to reach the 70s in all sections but the Lake Erie shore, where cool breezes from the water would hold readings to the 60s.

The fair weather will last through tonight. As a low pressure area moves south of the state Friday, some clouds will invade Ohio's borders and there is a chance of some afternoon showers or thundershowers in the southern counties.

Temperatures around the Buckeye State will remain mild through Friday with lows tonight falling to around 50 and highs Friday climbing into the 70s.

The extended outlook for the Memorial Day weekend calls for a chance of showers Saturday and again on Monday and for skies to be partly cloudy Sunday. Temperatures over the weekend will reach the 70s during the days and fall into the 50s at night.

VFY Members Learn Services To Unruly

Diane Berger, Ramona Edman, and Marsha Schneider of the Pickaway County Volunteers For Youth attended a May 24 meeting sponsored by the Franklin County Children's Services to hear John Baumeister speak on Services to Unruly Youth.

Baumeister is the director of the two-year-old project which provides 24-hour services for unruly children.

Baumeister classified an unruly youth as one who "commits an act which is only against the law because he is under 18, such as running away from home, disobeying parents, or truancy."

He noted that the distinction between unruly and delinquent was made by the State Supreme Court in 1969, and added that Judge Hill of the Franklin County Juvenile Court will no longer place unruly youths in detention homes or commit them to the Ohio Youth Commission.

Baumeister believes that the unruly should be removed from the statutes entirely. He remarked, "Under no circumstances should the unruly child be brought before the court. There is a tendency of the public to look to police and the courts to resolve the problems of the unruly youth. With all due respect, I feel that the courts have been a failure in regards to solving the problems of unruly youth."

He cited truancy cases as an example: "If a child goes to school and sleeps, that's not against the law. If he stays home and sleeps, that is against the law. There have been cases where children have been kept in institutions for years for being truant."

He further pointed out the lack of logic in court handling of truancy cases, stating, "The kid won't go to school, so you put him in a detention home where there is no school. It doesn't make a lot of sense to me."

Baumeister, former director of TICO Correctional Institution for Juveniles, stressed that he is not against institutions, but noted, "We should recognize what they are for — to punish or to protect society — but not to rehabilitate it. If we are going to intervene in a youth's life, the burden of proof should be on the one doing the intervening and that what they are doing is for the good of the child. I don't think we have shown that locking children up is for their own good. I think locking youth up is an emotional response and not a logical one."

He added that the procedure is also expensive, noting that, "Thirty to sixty dollars a day for residential care is not unusual. You could send a child to Harvard with money left over from what it costs to put him in an institution."

Baumeister's program, which is state and federally funded, utilizes some 40 to 60 existing agencies within the community to work with unruly youth. The target population is youth ages 11 through 17, some of whom are out-of-county runaways. A board of directors has representatives from the police department, schools, social agencies, and the juvenile court, and an advisory committee includes youth.

A full-time program planner works with existing agencies to make needs known and develop new programs. Referrals are made by parents, police, schools, courts and sometimes the clients themselves. The service is not mandatory, and a youth cannot be detained against his will.

The goal of the program is to seek the return of the youth to his home. It serves to intervene in crisis situations, not to rehabilitate.

The total number of referrals during the first year of operation was 3,450 with an equal distribution of male and female clients, average age being 15. Forty-five per cent of the cases involved incorrigibility; 23 per cent truancy; 12 per cent curfew violation; 11 per cent drug related; 10 per cent theft; and four per cent sexual involvement.

President Backs Uranium Enrichment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford endorsed Wednesday night a bill which would mean major expansion of a uranium enrichment plant near Portsmouth, Ohio.

"I will support it," he said of the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act which was approved earlier this month by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

Enriched uranium is a fuel for nuclear power.

If approved by Congress, the bill would authorize construction over three-to-six years in expanding the existing Portsmouth facility.

Rep. William Harsha, R-Ohio, who hailed the announcement as a reversal of policy, said it would create about 5,000 jobs during construction, create another 5,000 construction jobs during placement of three fossil fuel plants needed to run the facility and employ an additional 300 to 400 when finally in operation.

Portsmouth currently has an unemployment rate of more than 15 per cent, one of the highest in the state.

Harsha said he has lobbied the President for months to approve expansion of the facility, 18 miles north of Portsmouth.

He said he told Ford endorsement of the Pike County site could mean success or failure at the polls in his district.

"As soon as Congress passes the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act," Ford

told a Columbus news conference, "I will ask the Congress to appropriate $170 million for fiscal year 1977 to proceed with ...the Portsmouth plant." He said the money would go for design, planning and procurement of long lead time construction.

"This, I think, is a good program, and I hope the Congress acts so that I can request of the Congress the necessary funding for the complementary program at Portsmouth, Ohio," Ford said.

Gov. James A. Rhodes appeared at a joint news conference with Harsha and called Ford's announcement "The greatest boom to our economy in central and southern Ohio in a quarter of a century."

"It has untold economic value to the whole part of southern Ohio," Rhodes said.

Church Won't 'Cool It' In Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho Thursday rejected a suggestion by Arizona Sen. Morris Udall that Church "show restraint" in the Ohio Democratic presidential campaign and slow front runner Jimmy Carter.

Udall, in Sioux Falls, S.D. said, "I would hope Sen. Church would give me a free hand in Ohio because if he comes in there, we're going to have to take him on and take Carter on, and the result just might be a victory for Carter...and a first ballot convention."

"I have never been part of a stop Carter movement," said Church, arriving at Greater Cincinnati Airport. He is to address the Ohio AFL-CIO convention. Carter was to address the convention also.

"I'm running because I believe there are many issues to be discussed and my campaign has a wide appeal to Democrats," said Church, noting his three recent victories. He said he hoped to increase that to five in Montana and Rhode Island.

Udall said he stayed out of the Nebraska and Oregon primaries to give Church a "clean shot at stopping Carter." Church defeated the former Georgia governor in both states.

Mrs. Carter Seeks Help From Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — Newlywed Annette Carter hasn't had much time to settle into normal married life; she stepped onto the political bandwagon almost as soon as the honeymoon was over.

In the last five months of her one year of married life, the daughter-in-law of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter has been in over 18 states and traveled 200,000 miles.

Annette, husband Jeff and mother-in-law Rosalynn are all on the campaign trail promoting Jimmy Carter for the presidential nomination. All three were in Ohio on Wednesday as Ohio's June 8 presidential primary approached.

Annette and Jeff, 23, a veteran of past Georgia state campaigns, travel as a team. Part of the reason is Annette's admitted inexperience in the world of politics.

"When we started out in January in New Hampshire, handing out brochures, it was really hard on me," said the 23-year-old soft spoken-brunette. "Some of the comments like 'oh, he's a southerner' really used to bother me. Jeff would just laugh it off."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford endorsed Wednesday night a bill which would mean major expansion of a uranium enrichment plant near Portsmouth, Ohio.

"I will support it," he said of the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act which was approved earlier this month by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

Enriched uranium is a fuel for nuclear power.

If approved by Congress, the bill would authorize construction over three-to-six years in expanding the existing Portsmouth facility.

Rep. William Harsha, R-Ohio, who hailed the announcement as a reversal of policy, said it would create about 5,000 jobs during construction, create another 5,000 construction jobs during placement of three fossil fuel plants needed to run the facility and employ an additional 300 to 400 when finally in operation.

Portsmouth currently has an unemployment rate of more than 15 per cent, one of the highest in the state.

Harsha said he has lobbied the President for months to approve expansion of the facility, 18 miles north of Portsmouth.

He said he told Ford endorsement of the Pike County site could mean success or failure at the polls in his district.

"As soon as Congress passes the Nuclear Fuel Assurance Act," Ford

told a Columbus news conference, "I will ask the Congress to appropriate $170 million for fiscal year 1977 to proceed with ...the Portsmouth plant." He said the money would go for design, planning and procurement of long lead time construction.

"This, I think, is a good program, and I hope the Congress acts so that I can request of the Congress the necessary funding for the complimentary program at Portsmouth, Ohio," Ford said.

Gov. James A. Rhodes appeared at a joint news conference with Harsha and called Ford's announcement "The greatest boom to our economy in central and southern Ohio in a quarter of a century."

"It has untold economic value to the whole part of southern Ohio," Rhodes said.

Mrs. Carter Seeks Help From Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — Newlywed Annette Carter hasn't had much time to settle into normal married life; she stepped onto the political bandwagon almost as soon as the honeymoon was over.

In the last five months of her one year of married life, the daughter-in-law of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter has been in over 18 states and traveled 200,000 miles.

Annette, husband Jeff and mother-in-law Rosalynn are all on the campaign trail promoting Jimmy Carter for the presidential nomination. All three were in Ohio on Wednesday as Ohio's June 8 presidential primary approached.

Annette and Jeff, 23, a veteran of past Georgia state campaigns, travel as a team. Part of the reason is Annette's admitted inexperience in the world of politics.

"When we started out in January in New Hampshire, handing out brochures, it was really hard on me," said the 23-year-old soft spoken-brunette. "Some of the comments like 'oh, he's a southerner' really used to bother me. Jeff would just laugh it off."

Church Won't 'Cool It' In Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho Thursday rejected a suggestion by Arizona Sen. Morris Udall that Church "show restraint" in the Ohio Democratic presidential campaign and slow front runner Jimmy Carter.

Udall, in Sioux Falls, S.D. said, "I would hope Sen. Church would give me a free hand in Ohio because if he comes in there, we're going to have to take him on and take Carter on, and the result just might be a victory for Carter...and a first ballot convention."

"I have never been part of a stop Carter movement," said Church, arriving at Greater Cincinnati Airport. He is to address the Ohio AFL-CIO convention. Carter was to address the convention also.

"I'm running because I believe there are many issues to be discussed and my campaign has a wide appeal to Democrats," said Church, noting his three recent victories. He said he hoped to increase that to five in Montana and Rhode Island.

Udall said he stayed out of the Nebraska and Oregon primaries to give Church a "clean shot at stopping Carter." Church defeated the former Georgia governor in both states.

Hays Supporters Gather Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Friends and supporters of Rep. Wayne Hays are collecting evidence that they say shows Elizabeth Ray was a competent office worker who performed clerical and secretarial duties for her $14,000 congressional salary.

Miss Ray was removed earlier this week from her job as a clerk for the House Administration Committee after she said she earned her salary by serving as Rep. Wayne L. Hays' mistress. Hays has admitted a relationship with her, but he denied that she was paid from public funds only to satisfy his sexual desires.

In separate interviews with The Associated Press on Wednesday, Hays accused Miss Ray of blackmailing him and Miss Ray countered that she had received nothing from the Ohio Democrat except a sweater, occasional money for dinner and one month's rent on her apartment.

Miss Ray contended she was unable to do office work and that she was hired only because she was sexually involved with Hays. But aides and supporters of Hays were gathering samples of what they said would show that Miss Ray was capable of doing office work for her salary.

Meanwhile, the Washington Post said in today's editions that a federal grand jury has begun hearing testimony about Miss Ray's position with the Hays committee.

The Justice Department refused comment. Quoting informed sources, the newspaper said the grand jury was asked to consider whether Hays' relationship with Miss Ray might have involved violations of federal laws covering conspiracies to defraud the government or to convert tax funds to personal use.

Rep. John J. Flynt, D-Ga., chairman of the House ethics committee, said he probably will call a meeting of the panel next week to decide how to proceed in the Hays case. Flynt said he is polling individual members of the panel to get their opinions on procedure.

Whether or not Miss Ray performed duties for Hays' administration panel is likely to be the focus of investigations by either the House ethics committee and the Justice Department.

Ohio Early Noted For Lush Forests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not the least part of Ohio's Heritage is that green ocean of trees that once covered the state from border to border, a canopy of green that amazed and fascinated world travelers into the late 1800's. Then only high stumps here and there were left in some spots to show where forest monsters once grew, for the swarm of axwielding settlers cut and sawed their way, finally, to cleared fields.

Perhaps the most famous Ohio tree was the Logan Elm, now the site of a state memorial in Pickaway County six miles south of Circleville, the spot where famed Indian Chief Logan gave his oration to the white men in 1774. The tree, which measured over 23 feet in circumference with a spread of 164 feet—not large as some Ohio monsters grew—was destroyed in a storm in the early 1960's.

Claims for tree sizes can be measured in many ways, and Ohio had a great many "champions" in the old forest days. Sycamores have been among the largest trees found in Ohio, most of them found growing along streams and reaching greatest size in rich stream and river bottoms.

One of the most remarkable was situated in the Scioto Valley north of Lucasville, Scioto County, on the farm of Abram Millar. It was hollow with an opening 10 feet wide. It was the wonder of the countryside and focus of sightseers. In June 1808 a party of 13 men rode on horseback into the cavity of the tree and it was said there was ample room for two more. It was thus called "The Sycamore of Fifteen Horsemen."

Oaks sometimes grew to great size as attested by records of a white oak near Sarahsville in Noble County. In 1875 this tree was measured by Gen. (later President) Rutherford B. Hayes and was found to be 34 feet 6 inches in girth and 78 feet in height. In 1880 when it was uprooted by a storm the trunk was used for fence rails and the top branches were retained to fuel a celebration fire for just elected President Garfield.

Candidates Lay Out Next Primary Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Ford says he'll decide this week whether to continue campaigning or stay in Washington beyond the last of the primary elections June 8. GOP challenger Ronald Reagan has launched his California campaign against Ford with a strong law-and-order stand.

On the Democratic side, Rep. Morris K. Udall said Wednesday he would ask Sen. Frank Church to stay out of Ohio's primary to give Udall a chance to take delegates away from former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, the Democrats' frontrunner. Church rejected the idea.

Ford and his political advisers planned to meet today to decide whether more campaign trips are advisable before the final primaries in California, Ohio and New Jersey, deputy campaign manager Stewart Spencer said.

Those primaries will be preceded next Tuesday by voting in Rhode Island, South Dakota and Montana.

Reagan opened a nine-day campaign in his home state Wednesday by predicting he will win a first-ballot victory at the Republican National Convention.

Ford now leads Reagan in committed convention delegates with 777 to 644 for the challenger. There are 140 uncommitted delegates. A total of 1,130 delegates are needed for nomination. The President won primaries Tuesday in Oregon, Tennessee and Kentucky, while Reagan finished on top in voting in Nevada, Idaho and Arkansas.

Carter, who won Tuesday's primaries in Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas, leads Democrats with 880 delegates, followed by Udall with 298.5 and Sen. Henry Jackson with 248. There are 398.5 uncommitted delegates. A candidate needs 1,505 for nomination.

Reagan's aides acknowledged he can't be nominated without winning California, where the GOP primary has 167 delegates in a winner-take-all race.

Reagan accused Ford's California backers on Wednesday of trying to steal the nomination by abolishing the winner-take-all format. The attempt by some of Ford's backers to scrap the format died Wednesday in a closed-door caucus.

The former California governor, speaking at a peace officers' convention in Anaheim, offered several proposals for fighting crime and repeated stands in favor of the death penalty and against lenient judges, prison rehabilitation programs and gun control.

"We must put on a back burner the idea of reforming and rehabilitating criminals and get back on the front burner the idea of prosecuting, punishing and putting them away,"

Reagan said.

Ford, campaigning Wednesday in Columbus, Ohio, said he had not decided what action to take to ease the impact of court-ordered busing for school desegregation. But he said he believes that proposals for a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing "are too inflexible ..." and that Congress could not pass such an amendment.

Udall, in Sioux Falls, S.D., said that if Church ignored his plea to avoid a three-man race in Ohio, where 152 delegates are at stake, "we're going to have to take him (Church) on and take Carter on, and the result just might be a victory for Carter ... and a first-ballot convention."

Udall said he stayed out of the Nebraska and Oregon primaries to give Church a "clean shot at stopping Carter." Church defeated Carter in both states.

Church, arriving in Ohio Wednesday after primary victories Tuesday in Oregon and his home state, said Udall made his decision "based on his own assessment of his strength in Nebraska and Oregon. I would expect that he would agree that I should base my campaign on my own thinking." He said he had made no deals with Udall or any other Democrat in an effort to stop Carter.

In other political developments:

—Carter was endorsed by New York's Mayor Abraham D. Beame, who is committed to vote for Jackson on the first convention ballot, and by outgoing Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois, archfoe of Chicago Mayor

Richard J. Daley, who dominates Illinois' Democratic delegation.

Carter also won the support Wednesday of Harry Lerner, chairman of New Jersey's Essex County Democratic party, which casts the biggest Democratic vote in the state that elects 91 delegates.

—California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. began turning his campaign focus to his home state's primary on June 8.

—Reagan canceled plans to visit Rhode Island before Tuesday's primary and his campaign manager said he does not expect to do well there.

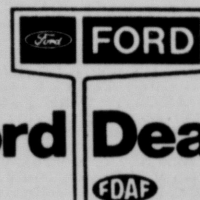

Due to the scattered populations on farms, towns were slow to develop in early Ohio; taxable property in the state was about $25 million in 1810.

House Window Shattered By Projectile

The window in an Orient home was shattered by what Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies believe may have been a slug from a high-powered rifle.

The incident occurred Wednesday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the 7844 Mound St., home of Fred A. Puckett, according to Deputy Larry Kellenberger.

The projectile crashed through the front window of the house, piercing the screen, glass, window blind, and curtain, crossed the bedroom, and passed through an inner wall.

The slug could not be found, the Deputy said.

Damage is estimated at $50.

Deputies are trying to determine what kind of object struck the rudder of an airplane, which was making a landing at the Pickaway County Airport Wednesday night.

A dent was found in the right side of the rudder by Deputy Sheriff William Carmean, who investigated the 7:38 p.m. incident.

Richard Baird of Columbus told the deputy that he was approaching the runway for a landing from the south when he heard a noise near the rudder.

He was between 50 and 100 feet from the ground.

Reagan said.

Ford, campaigning Wednesday in Columbus, Ohio, said he had not decided what action to take to ease the impact of court-ordered busing for school desegregation. But he said he believes that proposals for a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing "are too inflexible ..." and that Congress could not pass such an amendment.

Udall, in Sioux Falls, S.D., said that if Church ignored his plea to avoid a three-man race in Ohio, where 152 delegates are at stake, "we're going to have to take him (Church) on and take Carter on, and the result just might be a victory for Carter ... and a first-ballot convention."

Udall said he stayed out of the Nebraska and Oregon primaries to give Church a "clean shot at stopping Carter." Church defeated Carter in both states.

Church, arriving in Ohio Wednesday after primary victories Tuesday in Oregon and his home state, said Udall made his decision "based on his own assessment of his strength in Nebraska and Oregon. I would expect that he would agree that I should base my campaign on my own thinking."

He said he had made no deals with Udall or any other Democrat in an effort to stop Carter.

In other political developments: —Carter was endorsed by New York's Mayor Abraham D. Beame, who is committed to vote for Jackson on the first convention ballot, and by outgoing Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois, archfoe of Chicago Mayor

Richard J. Daley, who dominates Illinois' Democratic delegation.

Carter also won the support Wednesday of Harry Lerner, chairman of New Jersey's Essex County Democratic party, which casts the biggest Democratic vote in the state that elects 91 delegates.

—California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. began turning his campaign focus to his home state's primary on June 8.

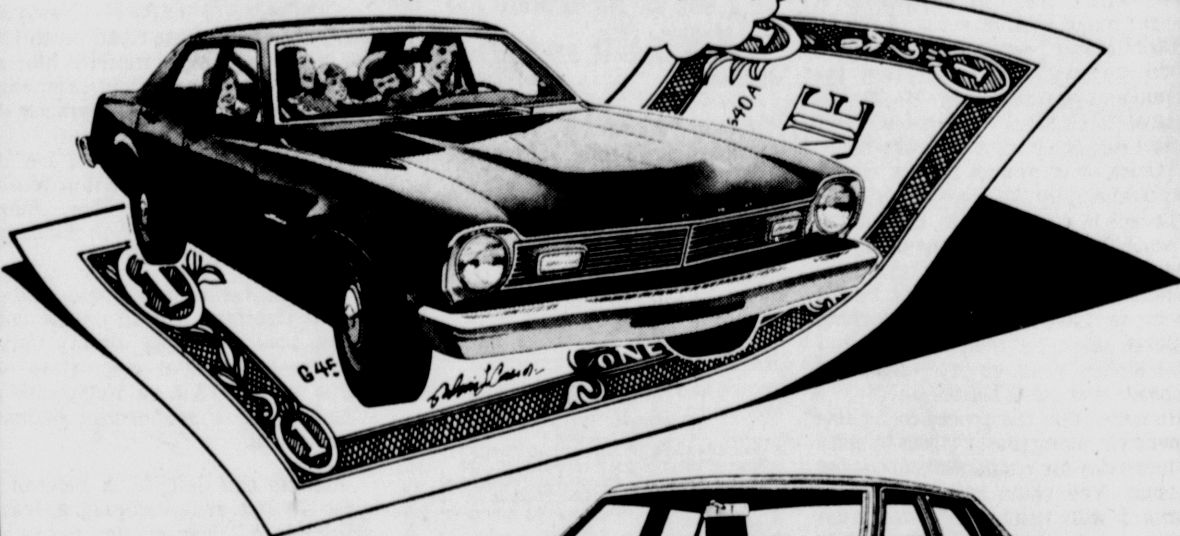

—Reagan canceled plans to visit Rhode Island before Tuesday's primary and his campaign manager said he does not expect to do well there.

Due to the scattered populations on farms, towns were slow to develop in early Ohio; taxable property in the state was about $25 million in 1810.

President Brings Campaign To Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—President Ford brought his bid for the Republican presidential nomination to Columbus on Wednesday, the most visible reminder that the campaign for the Ohio primary election has less than two weeks to run.

The President campaigned before senior citizens, friendly crowds on the statehouse lawn and viewers on live television, blitzing the capital city in his six-hour visit.

But it was only the most visible part of the campaign. The family of Democratic frontrunner Jimmy Carter was stumping in Columbus and Cincinnati, while Carter himself and Democratic hopeful Frank Church were poised to bring their presidential campaigns to the Buckeye State today.

And, First Lady Betty Ford was to take off where her husband left off, arriving in Akron late today to begin a campaign swing in the state.

Carter opens a two-day tour of the state today beginning with an morning address at the Ohio AFL-CIO annual convention in Cincinnati. He also scheduled several stops in northern Ohio.

Carter will meet with Ohio's uncommitted Democratic slate in Cleveland tonight to ask for the delegate candidates' support. The slate, headed by state Treasurer Gertrude Donahey, was intended to send an uncommitted slate to the party convention.

Church, the late-entering contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, also was to address the AFL-CIO convention and campaign in Cincinnati.

Carter was preceded in Ohio Wednesday by his wife, Rosalynn; son, Jeff, and daughter-in-law, Annette.

Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., flew out of Cleveland Wednesday after two days of campaigning in the Buckeye State and said later in Souix Falls, S.D., that he would ask Church to "show restraint" in entering the Ohio primary to prevent Carter from winning it.

"I would hope Sen. Church would give me a free field in Ohio, because if he comes in there, we're going to have to take him on and take Carter on, and the result just might be a victory for Carter...and a first ballot convention."

In the U.S. Senate contest, Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio, told the AFL-CIO convention Wednesday that he could be a "more credible" candidate in fighting for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Republican Robert Taft.

Stanton's June 8 primary opponent, former Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, refused to comment on Stanton's charges that Metzenbaum had used "every (tax) loophole provided under the law."

Metzenbaum called unemployment the top issue in the campaign.

New Trial For Beebe Set June 30

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. L. Peter Beebe's second Episcopal church trial over the issue of permitting women priests to perform the sacraments has been set to start at 10 a.m. June 30 at Trinity Cathedral in Cleveland.

Date of the new trial was announced Wednesday by the Rev. James Reasner of Toledo, who presided at the first trial and will head the five-priest panel hearing the retrial.

The Rev. Mr. Beebe was convicted of violating church laws and defying the orders of Bishop John Burt of the Ohio Episcopal Diocese when he permitted women priests to officiate at Christ Church in Oberlin, Dec. 8, 1974. That conviction was upset by an ecclesiastical appeals court in Milwaukee.

Other members of the panel include the Rev. Ora Calhoun of Ashland; Rev. George Ross, Akron; Rev. Richard Morris, Lakewood, and the Rev. John W. Simons, Willoughby.

All but the Rev. Mr. Simons were members of the original panel that found the former Oberlin minister guilty last summer in Akron.

The appeals court threw out the conviction on grounds of errors in the original trial, including refusal of the lower church court to admit evidence dealing with the question of the validity of women in the priesthood.

Carter's Family In Thick Of Fight

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Newlywed Annette Carter hasn't had much time to settle into normal married life; she stepped onto the political bandwagon almost as soon as the honeymoon was over.

In the last five months of her one year of married life, the daughter-in-law of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter has been in over 18 states and traveled 200,000 miles.

Annette, husband Jeff and mother-in-law Rosalynn are all on the campaign trail promoting Jimmy Carter for the presidential nomination. All three were in Ohio on Wednesday as Ohio's June 8 presidential primary approached.

Annette and Jeff, 23, a veteran of past Georgia state campaigns, travel as a team. Part of the reason is Annette's admitted inexperience in the world of politics.

"When we started out in January in New Hampshire, handing out brochures, it was really hard on me," said the 23-year-old soft spoken-brunette. "Some of the comments like 'oh, he's a southerner' really used to bother me. Jeff would just laugh it off. 'It's gotten easier though. I've gotten used to the comments and talking with people.'"

Jeff Carter fields most of the questions on issues, but Annette said she has gained a sufficient political know-how to go out on her own.

While the young couple campaigned in Cincinnati Wednesday, the candidate's wife started at a factory gate in Columbus at 6:30 a.m., then moved on to a brown-bag lunch on the statehouse lawn with downtown workers.

While signing autographs on the Capitol steps, Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes emerged to greet Mrs. Carter and offer her the hospitality of the statehouse. Rhodes is a supporter of President Ford.

"This is a typical day for me, since April of last year," she said. "We've been campaigning every day. People get to know Jimmy, and they vote for him."

The Carters are looking forward to a break after the Democratic National Convention when they hope the families will have more time together.

"The family has been together once, that was at Easter, and we've seen each other since Christmas," Jeff said. "The last time was in Nebraska, and the crowd was so big we couldn't even get over to him."

Firm Against Tailings Site Plan

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — "The ball is in Reserve's court," said Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson Wednesday after a state hearing officer recommended a site opposed by Reserve Mining Co. as a dump for the firm's taconite tailings.

Reserve officials had said during hearings on the site selection that it would close down its Minnesota operations, which employ some 3,200 people, if the company does not get the site it prefers.

Anderson said he's disappointed at the decision to reject the Milepost 7 site sought by Reserve but said he accepts the recommendation and hopes Reserve will accept the Midway, or Milepost 20, site selected by state hearing examiner Wayne Olson.

"I assume they will test Mr. Olson's decision in the courts," the governor said. "For that reason, I accept his decision but I'm not happy with it."

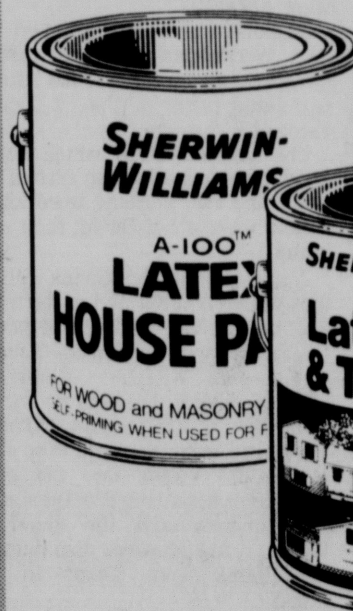

Merlyn Woodle, president of Reserve, said the taconite firm was "extremely disappointed" by Olson's recommendation.

He noted that although the recommendations are not binding on the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) and Department of Natural Resources (DNR), "they are a serious setback in Reserve's genuine desire to end all discharges to Lake Superior in the shortest time possible and to resolve the long-standing controversy."

Second Crash Injures Orient Woman

An Orient woman was referred to a doctor for treatment of injuries she suffered in Lawrence A. Swank's second accident 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Glenna J. Exline, 45, 8754 Harrisburg Pike, Orient, suffered minor neck and head injuries in the two-car crash that followed Swank's collision with a mailbox.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies said Swank, 16, Route 3, Orient, was driving north on Graham Road when his car struck a mailbox owned by John A. Richards, 12460 Graham Road.

Swank told deputies that he was watching in his mirror to see extent of the damage when his car struck Mrs. Exline's vehicle in the rear. She was stopped on Graham Road to make a left turn onto Cleo Drive.

Swank, who was not hurt, was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance ahead. A passenger in his car, Maylon Brown Jr., 16, 138 Graham Road, was not hurt.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Join the Summer Wagon Train of Adventure! Sign up in the Children's Room for the Summer Reading Program. Two sessions are scheduled, June 21 through July 2 and July 6 through July 16. Groups will meet Monday through Friday from 10:30-12:00 for children entering 2nd and 3rd grades and 1:30-3:00 for those entering 4th, 5th, and 6th grades. Space is limited, so sign up soon.

What's black, white, and "read" all over and small enough to go wherever you do? A paperback book — and we just happen to have dozens of new ones for young people.

In the children's room you'll find "The Apple and the Arrow," the Newbery Honor Book about William Tell's adventures. For a different view of the Pilgrim's voyage across the Atlantic, read "Boy on the Mayflower," an easy-to-read story based on the actual diary of a 13-year-old who travelled with the Pilgrims.

You won't want to miss "Abandoned" if you have a soft spot for cats. In this story, a kitten is forced to fend for herself when her owners abandon her. Another serious book is "Grandma Didn't Wave Back," which gently depicts a child's struggle to accept the changes senility brings to her grandmother.

Just for fun, try "The Active-Enzyme Lemon Freshened Junior High School Witch." 12-year-old Alison reads up on witchcraft and then tries to practice what she reads, ending up with unexpected results!

Young science fiction buffs will enjoy "Matthew Looney's Voyage to the Earth." Join the humorous cartoon figure as he discovers strange things such as water and bowling alleys!

Among the new paperbacks on the "Y" rack are romances, including "I Will Go Barefoot All Summer for You," and "Young Pioneers." If you enjoy thought-provoking novels you might read "Phoebe," a story of a young girl in trouble, and "Ellen," a true account of a dying girl.

If you are addicted to science fiction, you'll find the regular Hitchcock and Bradbury stories, but don't miss the classic "Frankenstein" by Mary Shelley or "The Lost World" by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

New biographies include "Barbara Walters: Today's Woman," "The New Johnny Cash," and "The Red Baron."

Is this your summer for driver's education? Get a head start by reading "The Book of Expert Driving." Other new how-to books include "How to Deal with Parents and Other Problems," and "1000 Ways to Win Monopoly Games." that you'll find on our book racks. Come in soon and see the rest for yourself.

Musician Getz Reported Robbed

SAN DIEGO (AP) Jazz musician Stan Getz says he was beaten, tied up and robbed by two gunmen who forced their way into his hotel room.

Getz told police he lost $52 in cash and a $50 watch. Three stitches were required on the back of his head for what Getz described as a pistol blow.

The incident took place early Tuesday, said Getz. He performed as usual Tuesday night in the beachfront hotel where he is staying.

Twisters Hit Texas Areas; 2 Persons Die

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lines of severe thunderstorms continued moving through central Texas and spawning tornadoes during the night.

Out of 22 tornadoes reported across the nation Wednesday, 21 were in Texas with most in the central portions. One twister was in nearby southwest Arkansas.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Join the Summer Wagon Train of Adventure! Sign up in the Children's Room for the Summer Reading Program. Two sessions are scheduled, June 21 through July 2 and July 6 through July 16. Groups will meet Monday through Friday from 10:30-12:00 for children entering 2nd and 3rd grades and 1:30-3:00 for those entering 4th, 5th, and 6th grades. Space is limited, so sign up soon.

What's black, white, and "read" all over and small enough to go wherever you do? A paperback book — and we just happen to have dozens of new ones for young people.

In the children's room you'll find "The Apple and the Arrow," the Newbery Honor Book about William Tell's adventures. For a different view of the Pilgrim's voyage across the Atlantic, read "Boy on the Mayflower," an easy-to-read story based on the actual diary of a 13-year-old who travelled with the Pilgrims.

You won't want to miss "Abandoned" if you have a soft spot for cats. In this story, a kitten is forced to fend for herself when her owners abandon her. Another serious book is "Grandma Didn't Wave Back," which gently depicts a child's struggle to accept the changes senility brings to her grandmother.

Just for fun, try "The Active-Enzyme Lemon Freshened Junior High School Witch." 12-year-old Alison reads up on witchcraft and then tries to practice what she reads, ending up with unexpected results!

Young science fiction buffs will enjoy "Matthew Looney's Voyage to the Earth." Join the humorous cartoon figure as he discovers strange things such as water and bowling alleys!

Among the new paperbacks on the "Y" rack are romances, including "I Will Go Barefoot All Summer for You," and "Young Pioneers." If you enjoy thought-provoking novels you might read "Phoebe," a story of a young girl in trouble, and "Ellen," a true account of a dying girl.

If you are addicted to science fiction, you'll find the regular Hitchcock and Bradbury stories, but don't miss the classic "Frankenstein" by Mary Shelley or "The Lost World" by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

New biographies include "Barbara Walters: Today's Woman," "The New Johnny Cash," and "The Red Baron."

Is this your summer for driver's education? Get a head start by reading "The Book of Expert Driving." Other new how-to books include "How to Deal with Parents and Other Problems," and "1000 Ways to Win Monopoly Games," that you'll find on our book racks. Come in soon and see the rest for yourself.

Musician Getz Reported Robbed

SAN DIEGO (AP) Jazz musician Stan Getz says he was beaten, tied up and robbed by two gunmen who forced their way into his hotel room.

Getz told police he lost $52 in cash and a $50 watch. Three stitches were required on the back of his head for what Getz described as a pistol blow.

The incident took place early Tuesday, said Getz. He performed as usual Tuesday night in the beachfront hotel where he is staying.

Red Cross Seeks More Blood Donors

Several items of interest occupied the members of the American Red Cross Board of Directors at the Wednesday meeting.

Plans are underway to secure better community participation for the Bloodmobile visit on June 10. An extra visit is scheduled in Ashville on June 25. The Ashville Kiwanis Club is assuming leadership responsibility for the operation.

John Stelbelton and Lowell Ferguson have recently completed a course in First Aid and Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation. A course for the public is planned for the near future.

Mel Ehrlich and David Shank described plans for the Summer Water Safety Program which will start June 14. Registration will be held at the Chapter House on June 9, 10, and 11. A complete schedule will be published soon. The Chairmen stressed the need for more volunteer help with beginners. Anyone who can swim and can spare some time is urged to call the Red Cross and offer their services. Parents can assist with paper work, also.

Mrs. Steven Thomas, a former youth volunteer has agreed to assume leadership of the Youth Program. Plans are being formulated for the summer youth activities.

The nominating committee was appointed by Robert Scranton, Chapter Chairman to prepare a slate of officers and report at the June 23 meeting. Members of the committee are: David Shank, Pat Clark, Keith Thomerson, Jim Kingsley and Ward Skinner.

CHS Tiger Athletes Honored At Spring Sports Banquet

Three girls and three boys received the coveted Most Valuable Player trophies at the Circleville Spring Sports Banquet Wednesday at the high school.

The event was sponsored by the Circleville Athletic Booster Club.

Recipients of the top athletic awards were: Linda Holveck, girls softball; Natalie Martin and Lisa Leahy, co-MVPs in girls track; Brent Mancini, baseball; Warren Yamarick, track; Jeff Williams, tennis.

Coach Karen Rafels introduced her girls softball team which compiled a 6-4 record on the season and finished second in the South Central Ohio League with a mark of 4-1. The Tigers lone league loss came at the hands of Wilmington.

This was the first year for the girls track team and the 12 members were introduced by head coach Joy O'Brien. They finished fifth in the SCOL in their first attempt but show signs of much better things in the future.

The boys tennis team was praised

In a game continued from last week,

Hubert Green Prime Muirfield Challenger

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — A week off fishing has Hubert Green's mind right. Now it's a question if the body can provide a match for pro golf's leading money winner this year.

"I'm well rested mentally, said the drawing Alabaman before teeing off today in the new $200,000 Memorial tournament at Jack Nicklaus' Muirfield Village.

"I don't know if my golf game will show before Thursday. I hope it's en route from Florida," added the tall, slender pro with 1976 earnings of more than $173,000.

Nicklaus ranked Green as one of the prime challengers in the new tour event over Muirfield's rolling 7,072 yards. But the winner of three straight tournaments this year was unsure himself.

"I don't predict. That's for weathermen and sports writers. It makes no difference whatever I say anyway," said Green.

"Nicklaus included himself as a favorite here, didn't he?" inquired the 29-year-old Green. "If not, I'm throwing his hat on the list, too."

The winner of the Doral, Jacksonville and Heritage stops in succession said he played no rounds of golf last week, devoting his leisure to Florida

Barry McConnell and Greg Huffer teamed up to hurl the seven inning win for Circleville Mfg. Gary Bigham, Rod Evans and Rick Lane shared the mound for Hills.

Greg Huffer belted a homer and two doubles for the winners, Barry McConnell and Harold Bivens singled and Willie Steinhauser singled in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh.

Gary Bigham rapped a double and single for Hills, Mitchell Evans had a double and Rick Lane singled.

Circle Auto Parts 10
Ankroms 0

Eddie Sims hurled a one-hitter, struck out 16 and rapped a triple, double and single to pace the Auto Parts. Aaron McPherson was on the hill for Ankroms.

Mike Welsh added three hits to the winners cause, Gary Phifer rapped two while Steve Winter, Don Metcalfe and Mike Pollock each rapped one. Aaron McPherson had the lone hit for Ankroms.

Coco Cola 6

Scott Heeter and John Adams teamed up to hurl the Bingman team to victory while Jim Bevins and Todd Lutz shared the hill for Coke.

Chris Febes and Andy Dengler each had three hits for the winners, Dusty Miller and Fred Styers each rapped two, while John Adams, Jeff Williams, Rich Klim, Tim Lane, Todd Hatley, Scott Heeter and Chris Plescia each had one hit.

Jeff McGowan and Craig Raymond both rapped two hits for Coke while Bob Conkel, Todd Lutz and Ed Moore all rapped one.

fishing

"The kings aren't running. But we caught 17 bluefish," he said.

Green's thoughts drifted toward Nicklaus, who launched his Muirfield dream 10 years ago and has been the moving force behind this new event with a $40,000 top prize.

"Jack is so meticulous. He has to be doing a lot of work behind the scenes. The players hope it hurts him so he would be more our equal. If he's full go, he's a real bear," he declared.

What about Green himself and the certain pressures that go with being No. 1 on the list?

"I just want to play well enough not to embarrass myself. But being on top doesn't really add any pressure this time of the year," he replied.

Ranking in the forefront with Nicklaus and Green were Gibby Gilbert, last week's winner at Memphis; long-overdue Tom Weiskopf, who has played Muirfield even more than Nicklaus; Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller.

Passing up the tournament, to be televised nationally (CBSTV) Saturday and Sunday, are Masters champion Raymond Floyd, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Tom Watson and Billy Casper.

for their hard work and fine effort by coach Dan Campbell. He said the boys got off to a fairly poor start but fought back to end the season with a 9-10 mark. The SCOL does not have a tennis league.

Coach Ty Ankrom presented his reserve baseball team which finished the season with a 9-8 mark. This shows a lot of promise for the coming season as it was a young club with a lot of promise.

Circleville's varsity baseball team finished the season with an 18-8 mark, were champions of the SCOL, 10-3, and runners-up in the AA District. This is the first SCOL baseball title for the Tigers since 1972.

Head coach Tom Cole introduced the players and discussed some of the highlights of the season.

Once again the "Old Master" of the cinders, coach Jim Lint, had his day as he introduced his track squad which brought the seventh consecutive SCOL track crown to Circleville.

Lint told of the work and effort put out by his young men and also gave a light review of the season's activities.

Receiving All-League trophies were: Linda Holveck and Darla Hughes, girls softball; Lisa Leahy and Natalie Martin, girls track; Biff Bumgarner and Brent Mancini, baseball; Warren Yamarick, Jim Cordle, Dave Phillips and Frank Merrill, boys track.

This award is special as it requires that the athlete must have earned six varsity letters and compiled a scholastic average of 3.0 or better. It is one of the top honors bestowed on Circleville athletes.

Bill Camp handled the invocation and benediction. Mark Lackey performed the duties of master of ceremonies while Paul Howley, Booster Club president, welcomed the crowd and presented the MVP trophies.

Indianapolis 500 — Repeat Of History

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — If history repeats itself, the winner of Sunday's Indianapolis 500 will be remembered by the public 50 years from now as little more than the answer to a trivia question.

Time holds back for no one. Not the rich, or famous or athletically gifted. Not for George Souders.

The 75-year-old Souders, who won Indy in 1927, has been the victim of a racing accident, a fire and a stroke. Yet he retains his good spirits.

"I haven't got very much now," says Souders. "But my credit is still pretty good."

The years haven't been particularly kind to him.

His stay atop the racing world was shortlived after he swept to what he describes as a "17-20 mile victory" in the 1927 race. A year later, he was third at Indy. But two months after that, he was involved in a serious wreck in a race in Detroit "which damn near killed me."

His left arm, which was broken in the mishap, was never properly set. And today, "it fills a coat sleeve, that's about all," he said.

Souders held a number of jobs after that, did a lot of traveling on the $47,000 he won at Indy in '27 and "did pretty much what I wanted to do."

A fire swept through his trailer in Lafayette, Ind., a few years ago, destroying virtually everything he owned, including medals and trophies from his racing days.

"I didn't have much of that stuff left anyway," he said. "You lose 'em, they steal 'em and everything else."

The memory of the 1927 race is still vivid in his mind.

"I started in the 22nd position. I was ninth after 90 miles. I made my first gas stop at 200 miles. I was in the lead before I had to take a second gas stop 200 miles later. By that time, I was far enough ahead to fill up and have three of my tires changed. I finished 17-20 miles ahead."

Souders says the fame that has escaped him is of little concern.

"I never paid any attention to that end of it. I don't care anything about that," he said, adding hopefully, "if they're sports fans, they don't forget that sort of thing overnight."

Yet they have forgotten. According to one of his friends, Souders is "just a Hoosier, a plain, ordinary Hoosier."

Will the winner of this year's race be remembered as anything but plain and ordinary 50 years from now?

Houston Aeros Face Do-Or-Die Situation

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Houston Aeros face a do-or-die situation in the World Hockey Association playoff final tonight and Coach Bill Dineen says he'll try everything to halt the ram-paging Winnipeg Jets.

The Jets have beaten the Aeros in three consecutive games — the first two in Houston — and need only a victory tonight to capture the best-of-seven championship series.

Five Metropolitan New York area athletes are on the Detroit Tigers' baseball roster.

CHS Tiger Athletes Honored At Spring Sports Banquet

Three girls and three boys received the coveted Most Valuable Player trophies at the Circleville Spring Sports Banquet Wednesday at the high school.

The event was sponsored by the Circleville Athletic Booster Club.

Recipients of the top athletic awards were: Linda Holveck, girls softball; Natalie Martin and Lisa Leahy, co-MVPs in girls track; Brent Mancini, baseball; Warren Yamarick, track; Jeff Williams, tennis.

Coach Karen Rafels introduced her girls softball team which compiled a 6-4 record on the season and finished second in the South Central Ohio League with a mark of 4-1. The Tigers lone league loss came at the hands of Wilmington.

This was the first year for the girls track team and the 12 members were introduced by head coach Joy O'Brien. They finished fifth in the SCOL in their first attempt but show signs of much better things in the future.

The boys tennis team was praised for their hard work and fine effort by coach Dan Campbell. He said the boys got off to a fairly poor start but fought back to end the season with a 9-10 mark. The SCOL does not have a tennis league.

Coach Ty Ankrom presented his reserve baseball team which finished the season with a 9-8 mark. This shows a lot of promise for the coming season as it was a young club with a lot of promise.

Circleville's varsity baseball team finished the season with an 18-8 mark, were champions of the SCOL, 10-3, and runners-up in the AA District. This is the first SCOL baseball title for the Tigers since 1972.

Head coach Tom Cole introduced the players and discussed some of the highlights of the season.

Once again the "Old Master" of the cinders, coach Jim Lint, had his day as he introduced his track squad which brought the seventh consecutive SCOL track crown to Circleville.

Lint told of the work and effort put out by his young men and also gave a light review of the season's activities.

Receiving All-League trophies were: Linda Holveck and Darla Hughes, girls softball; Lisa Leahy and Natalie Martin, girls track; Biff Bumgarner and Brent Mancini, baseball; Warren Yamarick, Jim Cordle, Dave Phillips and Frank Merrill, boys track.

The Second National Bank presented a trophy to catcher Brad Allison as the most improved baseball player.

Receiving the Scholar Athlete Awards were, Lisa Leahy, Mike McCoy and Brent Mancini.

This award is special as it requires that the athlete must have earned six varsity letters and compiled a scholastic average of 3.0 or better. It is one of the top honors bestowed on Circleville athletes.

Bill Camp handled the invocation and benediction. Mark Lackey performed the duties of master of ceremonies while Paul Howley, Booster Club president, welcomed the crowd and presented the MVP trophies.

In a game continued from last week,

Hubert Green Prime Muirfield Challenger

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — A week off fishing has Hubert Green's mind right. Now it's a question if the body can provide a match for pro golf's leading money winner this year.

"I'm well rested mentally, said the drawling Alabamian before teeing off today in the new $200,000 Memorial tournament at Jack Nicklaus' Muirfield Village.

"I don't know if my golf game will show before Thursday. I hope it's en route from Florida," added the tall, slender pro with 1976 earnings of more than $173,000.

Nicklaus ranked Green as one of the prime challengers in the new tour event over Muirfield's rolling 7,072 yards. But the winner of three straight tournaments this year was unsure himself.

"I don't predict. That's for weathermen and sports writers. It makes no difference whatever I say anyway," said Green.

"Nicklaus included himself as a favorite here, didn't he?" inquired the 29-year-old Green. "If not, I'm throwing his hat on the list, too."

The winner of the Doral, Jacksonville and Heritage stops in succession said he played no rounds of golf last week, devoting his leisure to Florida

fishing

"The kings aren't running. But we caught 17 bluefish," he said.

Green's thoughts drifted toward Nicklaus, who launched his Muirfield dream 10 years ago and has been the moving force behind this new event with a $40,000 top prize.

"Jack is so meticulous. He has to be doing a lot of work behind the scenes. The players hope it hurts him so he would be more our equal. If he's full go, he's a real bear," he declared.

What about Green himself and the certain pressures that go with being No. 1 on the list?

"I just want to play well enough not to embarrass myself. But being on top doesn't really add any pressure this time of the year," he replied.

Ranking in the forefront with Nicklaus and Green were Gibby Gilbert, last week's winner at Memphis; long-overdue Tom Weiskopf, who has played Muirfield even more than Nicklaus; Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller.

Passing up the tournament, to be televised nationally (CBSTV) Saturday and Sunday, are Masters champion Raymond Floyd, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Tom Watson and Billy Casper.

Brett, Chisox Stop Angels, 1-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — Ken Brett hasn't been with the Chicago White Sox long enough to think about a regular starting job, let alone a no-hitter.

But the left-handed pitcher known for his hitting came within a few inches of fame in only his second start with Chicago.

Brett mowed down 23 California players, gave up a walk, and had two out in the ninth Wednesday night before a strange occurrence took away his shot at glory.

As it turned out, a scratch single by Angel second baseman Jerry Remy didn't affect the outcome, Chicago's 1-0, 11-inning triumph. All it did was keep a frustrated Brett from a no-hitter that was "in the bag."

"This isn't the first time," said the 27-year-old, Brooklynborn, California-reared and Boston-educated hurler who wound up with a two-hitter in 10 innings of work. "Two years ago in Pittsburgh I had eight perfect innings against San Diego, but I relaxed too much and Fred Kendall — who I've known all my life — sliced a slider for a base hit. So I've come close before."

He was one out away before Remy checked his swing and rolled one down to third baseman Jorge Orta. Orta, a converted outfielder, dashed over but the ball went underneath his glove — by mere inches — and the official scorer ruled it a hit.

"If that's a hit, I'm bleep, bleep, bleep. It's a brutal call. If this is Chicago, it's an error," Brett said.

Bill Melton took some of the pressure off official scorer Don Merry of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram.

Orta said he didn't know whether it was an error: "I thought I had my glove down far enough and the ball would come up. It didn't."

Brett got last-inning help from Clay Carroll to preserve the triumph and the newly acquired Chicagoan is now 2-0 with an ERA of .000. His first start last Monday came a week after he was traded from the New York Yankees. In that game he permitted just one hit to Oakland in five innings.

Carroll relieved in that one, too, as Chicago won 6-0. The White Sox have now won 10 in a row with this extraordinary conquest, their longest streak since 1967.

Yankees 4, Indians 3

Oscar Gamble stung his former team with a run-scoring pinch single in the seventh inning, capping a three-run rally that lifted New York over Cleveland. Gamble, who was traded from Cleveland to New York last November, connected off reliever Tom Buskey — a former Yankee — with two out to score pinch-runner Sandy Alomar, who had stolen second base.

Brewers 6, Red Sox 2

Powered by two-run homers by Gorman Thomas and George Scott, Milwaukee defeated Boston and snapped a three-game winning streak for the Red Sox. Winner Jim Slaton, 7-1, scattered eight hits and pitched out of several jams.

The Brewers took the lead to stay at 2-1 in the second on a single by Robin Yount and Thomas' second homer of the year, breaking a string of 19 consecutive shutout innings by Boston pitchers. A single by Darrell Porter and Scott's fourth homer made it 4-1 in the third and chased loser Dick Pole, 1-2.

Royals 14-4, Rangers 2-4

Kansas City's Fred Patek and Amos Otis drilled home runs to back Dennis Leonard's six-hit pitching as the Royals ripped Texas in the first game of their doubleheader.

Al Cowens' run-scoring infield single in the ninth inning gave the Royals a tie in the suspended nightcap. The second game was suspended because of a 1 a.m. local American League curfew and will begin at 7 p.m. (CDT) tonight with the Royals coming to bat in the top of the 10th inning.

Orioles 6-2, Tigers 0-6

Lee May drove in four runs and Paul Blair hit a two-run homer to pace Baltimore past Detroit in their first game. Ron LeFlore extended his hitting streak to 29 games with a two-run homer that helped Detroit win the second game.

Twins 6, A's 1

Minnesota's Dan Ford hit his eighth home run of the season, tying him for the American League lead, to send Minnesota ahead as the Twins went on to beat Oakland. Ford homered off Oakland starter Paul Mitchell, 1-3, leading off the fifth inning to snap a 1-1 tie.

The homer tied him with Boston's Carl Yastzremski and Cleveland's George Hendrick.

Yanks Edge Tribe 4-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Gamble no longer wears the amazing afro that looked like Mickey Mouse's ears when he jammed his baseball cap on top of it. He's still easy to recognize, though, with a bat in his hands.

Swinging a bat and hitting a baseball is Gamble's stock in trade. He slammed 54 home runs in three seasons with the Cleveland Indians and had the seventh best slugging percentage in the American League in 1974.

With two out in the seventh inning, the New York Yankees were locked in a 3-3 battle with the Indians Wednesday night. Pinch runner Sandy Alomar had stolen second base and the scheduled batter was light-hitting Fred Stanley.

Instead, the well-groomed Gamble, acquired last November in a trade for pitcher Pat Dobson, galloped from the dugout, eager to do his thing.

"I was ready," he said. "Billy (Manager Billy Martin) had told me I was gonna hit."

Maybe reliever Tom Buskey—a former Yankee—didn't recognize him. Gamble jumped on a slider and lined a single to right field, scoring Alomar to cap a three-run rally and give the Yankees a 4-3 victory.

Chaney Helps Stop Reds, 4-3

Darrel Chaney, who wore a "Good field, no hit," tag through seven seasons with the Cincinnati Reds, is making a solid case for changing that description to "Good field, occasional hit."

And he's making it at the expense of his ex-teammates.

Chaney, who batted a meager .207 with the Reds before being traded to the Atlanta Braves over the winter, came back to haunt his former club Wednesday, belting a two-run double in the ninth inning to give the Braves a 4-3 victory.

Chaney, who has moved in as Atlanta's regular shortstop, stepped to the plate with the bases loaded and one out, Atlanta trailing 3-2. He grabbed hold of a pitch from Rawly Eastwick, the Reds' outstanding young reliever, and laced it to the wall in right center, driving home the tying and winning runs.

"I was excited," said Chaney, asked to describe his feelings upon beating his former teammates.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2, the San Francisco Giants trounced the Houston Astros 11-4, the Philadelphia Phillies shut out the New York Mets 5-0, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Montreal Expos 6-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the San Diego Padres 8-0.

Douglas Freed From Hospital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Former Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has been discharged from Good Samaritan Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Wednesday that Douglas flew to Washington, D.C., with his son William Jr.

The 77-year-old Douglas had been in the hospital since May 5 learning how to use an electronic stimulator that reduces the pain which results from a stroke he suffered in December 1974.

Dr. Joseph Pacquet, Douglas' physician for more than 30 years, said his patient is in good condition and the pain has diminished greatly.

He said Douglas will continue to be cared for by his Washington physician, Dr. Thomas Connally.

innings but each team scored twice in the eighth to set the stage for Chaney's heroics. Eastwick filled the bases with consecutive singles to Ken Henderson, Dave May and pinch-hitter Earl Williams before the decisive double.

Cubs 4, Cards 2

Rick Reuschel, 4-3, stopped the Cards on four hits through 7 1-3 innings and helped record his third straight win by driving in one run and scoring another for the Cubs.

Reuschel was relieved by Darold Knowles, who recorded his fourth save of the year.

Giants 11, Astros 4

Gary Matthews and Ken Reitz homered and Chris Speier highlighted a four-run fifth inning outburst with a two-run double, powering the Giants past Houston.

Phils 5, Mets 0

Steve Carlton, 5-1, held the Mets on three hits, while Greg Luzinski and Ollie Brown slammed two-run homers to lead Philadelphia to its fourth consecutive victory.

The red-hot Phils, who lead the NL East by 5½ games, have posted a 25-6 record in their last 31 games.

Pirates 6, Expos 3

Dave Parker, sidelined for 13 games with a strained knee, returned to action for Pittsburgh with a two-run pinch-single that sparked a five-run outburst in the sixth inning that powered the Pirates past Montreal.

Dodgers 8, Padres 0

Left-hander Doug Rau fired a three-hitter to spark Los Angeles over San Diego. The Dodger victory was their first in five meetings against the Padres this season. Rau was never in serious trouble as he improved his record to 5-2 with his second complete game of the year.

Lebanese Fighting Unbated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christians and Moslems battled at close range early today for control of buildings commanding the approaches to the Beirut port area.

A police spokesman said the warring militiamen fought floor-to-floor battles with hand grenades.

A heavy Moslem rocket barrage set the eight-story, Christian-controlled Fattal building ablaze on the eastern edge of the harbor, police said. They reported that gunmen moved in under cover of the barrage, blew open the safe deposit vault of the National Bank of Paris in the building, and began emptying the 300 safe deposit boxes.

The police said about 80 persons were believed killed in Beirut and elsewhere during the night, raising the estimated death toll in the war to more than 25,500.

Other buildings in the center of the city were set afire by rocket duels.

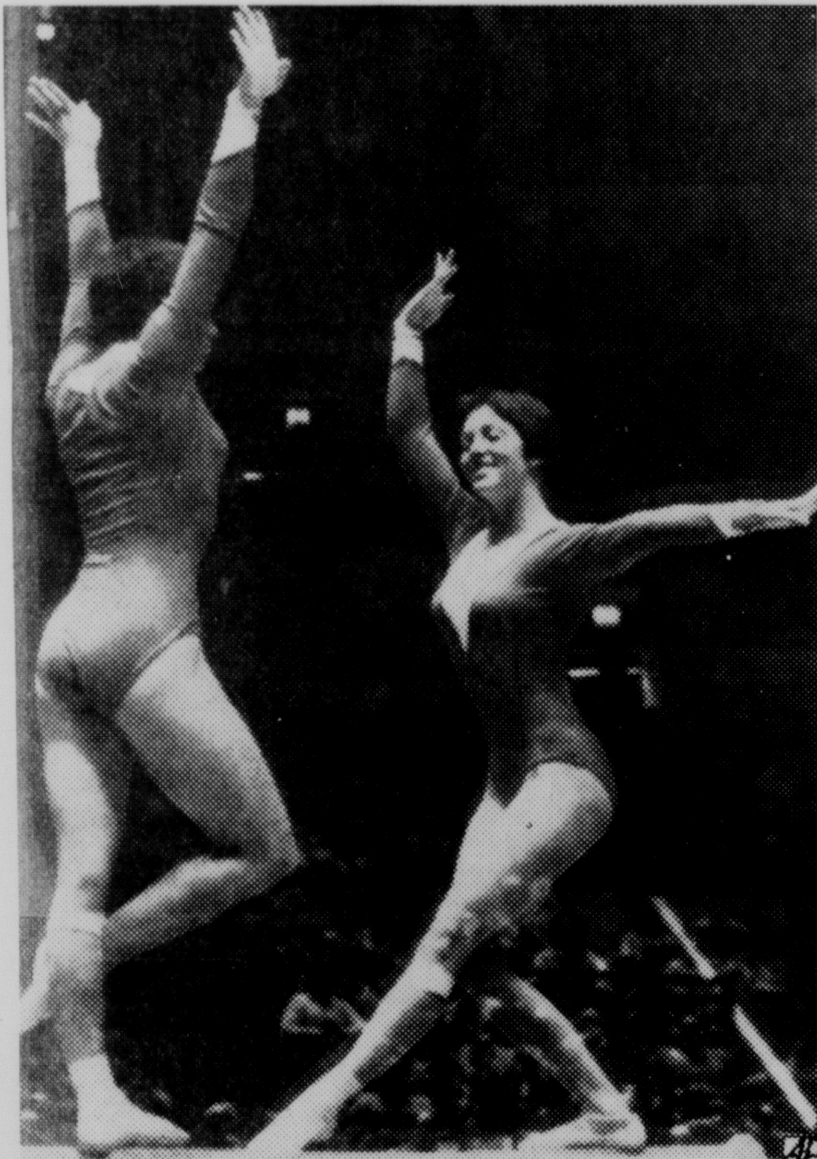

Leftist Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt's forces made a drive to take the port from the Christians last month, but Syrian pressure forced Jumblatt to rein in his forces. Recently, however, the fighting in the city has been escalating.

Jumblatt and President-elect Elias Sarkis were trying again today to meet to discuss the possibility of an armistice and a roundtable conference of the warring factions.

The two leaders were prevented from holding the meeting Wednesday when the fighting prevented Jumblatt, a Moslem, and Sarkis, a Christian, from crossing the lines between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut.

Premier Rashid Karami issued a statement condemning the "sudden military escalation during the last 48 hours that dimmed hopes of an early roundtable settlement."

Brett, Chisox Stop Angels, 1-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — Ken Brett hasn't been with the Chicago White Sox long enough to think about a regular starting job, let alone a no-hitter.

But the left-handed pitcher known for his hitting came within a few inches of fame in only his second start with Chicago.

Brett mowed down 23 California players, gave up a walk, and had two out in the ninth Wednesday night before a strange occurrence took away his shot at glory.

As it turned out, a scratch single by Angel second baseman Jerry Remy didn't affect the outcome, Chicago's 1-0, 11-inning triumph. All it did was keep a frustrated Brett from a no-hitter that was "in the bag."

"This isn't the first time," said the 27-year-old, Brooklyn-born, California-reared and Boston-educated hurler who wound up with a two-hitter in 10 innings of work. "Two years ago in Pittsburgh I had eight perfect innings against San Diego, but I relaxed too much and Fred Kendall — who I've known all my life — sliced a slider for a base hit. So I've come close before."

He was one out away before Remy checked his swing and rolled one down to third baseman Jorge Orta. Orta, a converted outfielder, dashed over but the ball went underneath his glove — by mere inches — and the official scorer ruled it a hit.

"If that's a hit, I'm bleep, bleep, bleep. It's a brutal call. If this is Chicago, it's an error," Brett said.

Bill Melton took some of the pressure off official scorer Don Merry of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram.

Orta said he didn't know whether it was an error: "I thought I had my glove down far enough and the ball would come up. It didn't."

Brett got last-inning help from Clay Cañol to preserve the triumph and the newly acquired Chicagoan is now 2-0 with an ERA of .000. His first start last Monday came a week after he was traded from the New York Yankees. In that game he permitted just one hit to Oakland in five innings.

Carroll relieved in that one, too, as Chicago won 6-0. The White Sox have now won 10 in a row with this extra-inning conquest, their longest streak since 1967.

Yankees 4, Indians 3

Oscar Gamble stung his former team with a run-scoring pinch single in the seventh inning, capping a three-run rally that lifted New York over Cleveland. Gamble, who was traded from Cleveland to New York last November, connected off reliever Tom Buskey — a former Yankee — with two out to score pinch-runner Sandy Alomar, who had stolen second base.

in three minutes to win. The contest was sponsored by the Seattle Parks Department to show that many things can be eaten in the woods for survival.

PLAN FISH FRY — Mrs. Gary Groce, vice president of the Pickaway Twp. Fire Department's Ladies Auxiliary, discusses details of the group's Firemen's Fish Fry with Pickaway Fire Chief Robert Bell. The fish fry will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday at the fire house, 579 Tarlton Road. Admission allows patrons to eat all they want including dessert. This annual project allows the auxiliary to raise funds to help purchase needed equipment for the fire department. The ladies helped purchase the emergency vehicle in the background and the Porta-Power unit, which is being examined by Chief Bell. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Groce or any member and will be available at the door.

Claim FDR Romanced Heiress

NEW YORK (AP) — President Franklin D. Roosevelt and New York newspaper heiress Dorothy Schiff had a seven-year relationship from 1936 until 1943, according to a biography of Mrs. Schiff scheduled for publication in the fall.

The book quotes Mrs. Schiff, publisher of the New York Post, as saying FDR was "in a rather sweet way ... fairly bold," that he "was looking for a turn-on," and that he "probably saw me as a sex object," said John J. Geoghegan, whose firm, Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, will publish the book in October.

A spokesman for Mrs. Schiff said the 73-year-old newspaper publisher "did not ever have and has never claimed to have had a romance or an affair with the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Geoghegan said Wednesday night that Mrs. Schiff "had the right to check for any factual errors in the book and she made no changes" in the two draft copies which he said she read.

The book, "Men, Money and Magic: The Story of Dorothy Schiff," was written by Jeffrey Potter "in collaboration with" Mrs. Schiff, who had "extensive control over factual material in the book," Geoghegan said.

Geoghegan said Potter is in his early 50s with at least one other book credit. He said the author received an advance "in the high five figures but less than $75,000."

Potter could not be reached for comment.

The book asserts that both the President's wife, Eleanor, and Mrs. Schiff's husband at the time, George Backer, knew of the frequent meetings between the President and the newspaper publisher between June 1936 and 1943, Geoghegan said.

Asked if the book implied a sexual relationship between the President and the newspaper publisher, who met when he was 56 and she was 33, Geoghegan said he would "stick by what's in the book."

At one point, according to Geoghegan, the narrative states:

"This (the President) was a warm guy who was in an isolated position and was looking for a turn-on and companionship, too. In a rather sweet way he was fairly bold, and everything about his body was so strong."

"Apparently, I was considered very sexy in those days and he probably saw me as a sex object," the narrative continues.

The book says the frequent meetings between the two figures often took place in Hyde Park, N.Y., where Mrs. Schiff and FDR had estates, Geoghegan said. They met in Hyde Park in June 1936, after the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia.

The relationship ended in 1943 when Mrs. Schiff found FDR's "sun-god quality wasn't working for me all of a sudden," the book says. Shortly afterward, Mrs. Schiff divorced and married for a third time.

According to Geoghegan, Mrs. Schiff says in the book that it was Backer who was "overwhelmed by the President and it was he who sold me to him."

Conference On Aging Held

The eighth Annual Governor's Conference on Aging was held May 25 and 26 at the Lausche Building and the Rhodes Center at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Keynote speaker for the first day was Victor Borge, well known musician and humorist. He is also the honorary chairman of the National Physical Fitness program for Senior Citizens. His talk combined some music, some witty observations and some gentle hints about ways of exercising to maintain a good physique well into the later years of life.

Martin Janis, Director of the Ohio Commission on Aging served as the Master of Ceremonies, introducing the members of the Ohio Commission on Aging who were seated on the platform. An impressive flag ceremony was presented, depicting the history of our American flag from the first one to the last. A Kazoo band from Belmont County provided entertainment for the group and as an added point of interest, Victor Borge accompanied them on the piano, with much hilarity involved.

Samples, a 101-year-old man from Columbus was presented with 101 pink roses by Mr. Vierick, a Columbus florist.

Lucille Loy Kuck presented the awards in the "I Remember, I Remember" writing contest held earlier in the year. First place was won by Mrs. Edna Thoman of Louisville, Ohio; 2nd by Lula B. Hampton of Pomeroy; 3rd was a poem by George Dell of Galena and seven certificates of merit were awarded also.

Queen Sofia Sets Synagogue Speech

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Queen Sofia of Spain has chosen a synagogue as the setting for her first public speech, Jewish leaders say.

A spokesman for Madrid's Jewish community said the queen will address the Madrid synagogue Friday on religious liberty.

He said her appearance with Rabbi Baruj Garzon of Madrid will be the first time a Spanish monarch has attended a non-Christian religious ceremony since King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella united Spain under Catholic rule in 1492.

session was held with A. Donald Campbell as Moderator. Taking part were Senators Anthony O. Calabrese, Paul Gillmor, David Johnson, Oliver Ocasek, Donald Woodland, and Representatives Troy Lee James, Irma Karmol, Corwin Nixon and Vernal Riddle. The meeting closed with sessions divided into interest groups, discussing crime against the elderly, Utilities and transportation.

The 2nd day was a repeat of the interest group sessions, followed by a General Session during which resumes from the various interest groups were read and discussed. A visit from the President of the United States, Gerald Ford was an unexpected treat but created considerable problems in way of security.

Attending the Conference from Pickaway County were: Don Strous county commissioner, Pearl Porter, Blanche D. Kerns, Dorothy E. Smith, Alice Scothorn, Isabella Badger, Jenny Hoffman, Jenny Eccard, Wanda Hamilton, Vera Saunders and Twyla Lorentz.

Elizabeth Ray Says Mistreated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elizabeth Ray says she knows there are other politicians in Washington having affairs with their assistants but that in most cases the women involved probably like their bosses better than she liked Rep. Wayne Hays.

Curled up on a red couch in her suburban Virginia apartment, Miss Ray said in an interview Wednesday that she never loved the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat and that he mistreated her during their affair.

Hays, an Ohio Democrat, first denied but then admitted having a "personal relationship" with the shapely 33-year-old North Carolina native. But he denies placing her on the payroll of his House Administration Committee to serve as his mistress.

She said other Washington women involved in office affairs "probably like their bosses. The guys are nice to them and they like to be seen with someone influential with power, not treated like a computer, a piece of equipment, and mistreated and dictated to."

Asked if she ever was in love with Hays, she replied: "No. At one time I tried to like him because I looked at it as a job. I thought, 'If I can like this person it will be much easier for me.'"

She said, "About that time he came out outrageously bad again."

She said her job with Hays' committee began the day after the first night she went out with him.

"Ground rules were given at dinner that evening, that I would show up when he wanted me to show up, that I would keep my mouth closed," she said. She said she didn't like being Hays' mistress. "It wasn't something I chose to do. I needed a job."

She described one evening with Hays when, at dinner, she expressed sympathy for Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., who had created a furor with his escapades with stripper Fanne Fox.

"If a broad did that to me, she wouldn't be around writing books," Miss Ray quoted Hays as saying. "She'd be six feet under."

"I said, 'What do you mean six feet under ...?' He looks down at the river and says 'I mean she would be down six feet under in cement.' And I said 'How could you do it and get by with it?' He said, 'They might be suspicious but there's no way of proving it.'"

She said the congressman told her how it would be done and that he had "connections" who would do it.

Hays said Wednesday that Miss Ray blackmailed him emotionally and "for cash," but she denied that.

"He never gave me anything except a sweater from Sweden," Miss Ray said. "And he paid one month's rent before he was married. That was his wedding present to me, not a blackmail present as he may refer to it, but a gift."

"He actually wanted me to get out of town. I could use the money for what I wanted to. He wanted me to take a vacation until he got his marriage over with."

She said she had seen Hays "only four times" since his marriage six weeks ago. Asked if they had had sexual relations then, she said, "Two out of four. The other two times he was too tired."

Sitting with her lawyer, Monroe J. Mizel, and her white toy poodle, Marius, Miss Ray denied Hays' charges that she threatened him with suicide and demanded money.

"I never threatened him with suicide, with money, in any form, in any way, ever," she said. "Why didn't he come out with that the first day? It takes a long time to come up with some more lies."

Miss Ray said, "I never demanded cash. The only cash the man ever gave me was $20 to eat on and a plane ticket to Florida for a Christmas present, and the rent the last time.... He offered it to me. He sent his secretary over to the building to pay the rent. Now is that blackmail?"

Miss Ray said she has been seeing a psychiatrist since April 1974 when she first went to work for Hays. She had seen psychiatrists "one or two times before," she said, "but they didn't help. They needed me more than I needed them."

She said she doubts her relationship with Hays is unique among Washington politicians.

"I'm sure there are similar situations, but that the women are not forced and dictated to like I was," she said. "I'm sure most of them do type. I can type like a reporter with my two index fingers. The highest typing speed I ever got to was 12 words per minute."

Miss Ray said she came to Washington in 1968 from Marshall,

N.C., where she grew up. She said she was raised by her grandmother and that after graduating from high school she took some business courses but never finished them.

Miss Ray declined to comment on whether she had had affairs with other Washington officials. She posed for pictures with a brass tray marked "The House of Representatives." It was a gift, she said, from a congressman.

Oil Price Increase Expected To Come From OPEC Meeting

BALI, Indonesia (AP) — Saudi Arabia today opposed any increase in the price of oil for the rest of the year as the oil cartel opened another price-setting meeting. But observers expect an increase of 5 to 10 per cent in the base price.

"We oppose any increase in price, and we have a very strong position on that," Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani told newsmen at the opening of a three-day meeting of the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Yamani said OPEC's present base price should be maintained "until the end of the year."

OPEC raised the price Oct. 1 by 10 per cent to $11.51 a barrel and agreed to a price freeze until the end of June as a compromise between Iran's demand for a 15 per cent increase and Saudi opposition to any increase. Iran and Iraq are again pressing for an increase, and oil industry analysts expect the Bali meeting to vote a hike of 5 to 10 per cent.

Such an increase, if passed along to the consumer, could increase the cost of gasoline in the United States one to two cents a gallon.

Opening the meeting, President Suharto put Indonesia on the side of the hawks with a call for continuing adjustment of oil prices to the inflation rate.

"We have every right to demand a reasonable and fair price for our oil," said Suharto. "The adjustment of oil prices to the rate of inflation is only fair and just."

Suharto defended OPEC against the charge that its price increases hurt other developing countries more than the industrialized countries. He said the oil countries are "part of the big family of developing countries ... and therefore every measure and decision to be taken ... should be regarded as both a beneficial step and an achievement of the entire developing countries, and not as a disadvantage to them."

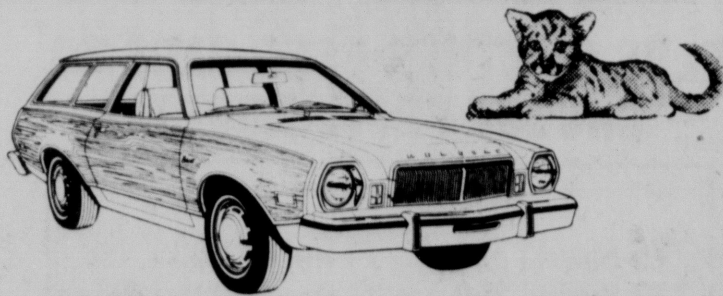

Suharto added, however, that while the oil countries had contributed to the interests of the Third World, they should do even more "because they are considered to be more wealthy and capable."

After the 20-minute opening session, the delegates went into closed session.

The heavily guarded conference is being held at a walled seaside resort owned by Indonesia's state oil company. Ultra-leftist guerrillas raided the last OPEC ministerial meeting in Vienna in December, abducted most of the ministers to North Africa and then freed them under pressure from the Algerian government.

The members of OPEC are Algeria, Iran, Iraq, Nigeria, Libya, Indonesia, Ecuador, Venezuela, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Gabon, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates. They account for about two-thirds of the oil production of the nonCommunist world.

Iran and Iraq are again pressing for an increase, and oil industry analysts expect the Bali meeting to vote a hike of 5 to 10 per cent.

Such an increase, if passed along to the consumer, could increase the cost of gasoline in the United States one to two cents a gallon.

Opening the meeting, President Suharto put Indonesia on the side of the hawks with a call for continuing adjustment of oil prices to the inflation rate.

"We have every right to demand a reasonable and fair price for our oil," said Suharto. "The adjustment of oil prices to the rate of inflation is only fair and just."

Suharto defended OPEC against the charge that its price increases hurt other developing countries more than the industrialized countries. He said the oil countries are "part of the big family of developing countries ... and therefore every measure and decision to be taken ... should be regarded as both a beneficial step and an achievement of the entire developing countries, and not as a disadvantage to them."

Suharto added, however, that while the oil countries had contributed to the interests of the Third World, they should do even more "because they are considered to be more wealthy and capable."

After the 20-minute opening session, the delegates went into closed session.

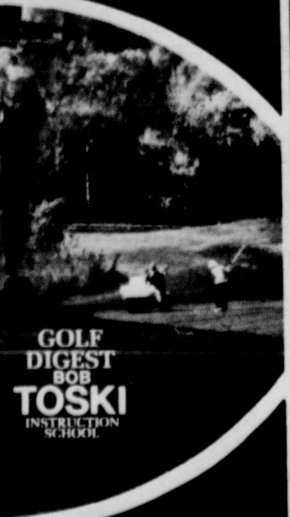

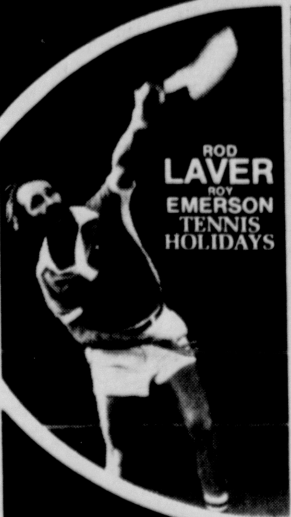

The heavily guarded conference is being held at a walled seaside resort owned by Indonesia's state oil company. Ultra-leftist guerrillas raided the last OPEC ministerial meeting in Vienna in December, abducted most of the ministers to North Africa and then freed them under pressure from the Algerian government.

The members of OPEC are Algeria, Iran, Iraq, Nigeria, Libya, Indonesia, Ecuador, Venezuela, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Gabon, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates. They account for about two-thirds of the oil production of the nonCommunist world.

Tennis lovers have discovered Boyne Country.

Tournament clay, championship grass, clean, new, hard-surface courts. Northcountry cool. Now the "stars" have found Boyne... in a big way.

Boyne Country has become the summer home of Laver-Emerson Tennis Holidays. Rod Laver and Roy Emerson themselves are on the courts, ready to bring your game to life.

Your Horoscope Views On Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Objectivity and foresight will be day's prime requirements. Do not be coerced into deals or activities which you would not normally consider.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stars indicate that you could now strike out for a higher goal. You may have to take a different route to achieve it, but the new avenue could be a better one.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may now be able to find the solution to a problem which has been bothering you for some time - and in a surprisingly easy manner.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stellar influences somewhat restrictive. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untied ventures.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Excellent solar influences continue. Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions regarding future activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Your creative ideas may need some revision before they can be carried out, so be sure to study all angles of feasibility before presenting them.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have mixed feelings about some matters, a sense of confusion. Take sufficient time to learn what is expected of you and how best to go about it. And DON'T worry!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Differences of opinion need not result in rifts. Get together with those concerned and, with calmness and your innate sense of humor, you can straighten out any situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Fine Jupiter influences encourage present efforts. Especially favored: financial affairs, organizational interests, satisfactory conclusions to complex business negotiations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good aspects. Occupational interests, educational pursuits and research especially favored. Some changes in the making are for the best.

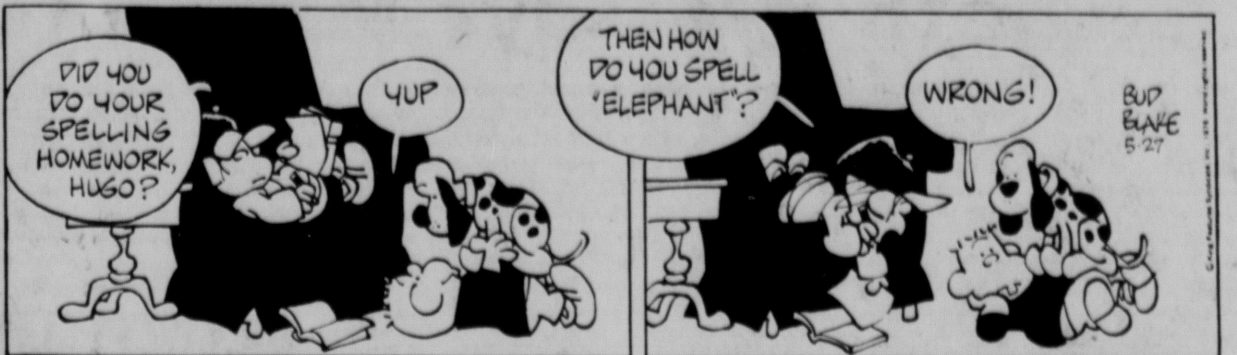

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You now have a wonderful chance to display your ingenuity and possibly think up a new way to present an old idea which could STILL be feasible if properly worked out.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking - if reasonable! But don't go out on the proverbial limb and DO avoid extremism.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly gregarious individual and a born traveler; could succeed in almost any occupation which involves journeys to far places and dealing with the public. But your extraordinary facility with words will probably draw you to some form of literature, journalism or the communications media. All of which adds up to the fact that, as a travel writer or reporter, you would be "tops." You have a gift for languages, too, and can master them easily. Study them for, in whatever profession you choose, they would be a tremendous asset. You tend toward un-conventionality and unorthodox methods but are discerning enough to hide these traits when it's advisable. Despite your

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Jo Jo White 'Iron Man'

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Jo Jo White is the "iron-man" in the National Basketball Association, and in this season's playoffs he has shown no signs of bending. In fact, he has only gotten stronger.

White, whose 362 consecutive regular-season games represents the longest streak among active players in the league, was Boston's second leading scorer with an 18.9 average as the Celtics romped to their fifth consecutive Atlantic Division title. In the playoffs, he is No. 1, averaging 23.1 points a game.

White, whose lithe build (he is 6-foot-3 and 190 pounds), belies his iron-man role, was a key player both offensively and defensively last Sunday when the Celtics beat the Phoenix Suns 98-87 in the opener of their best-of-seven, nationally televised NBA championship series. He scored 22 points, including 20 in the second half and 12 straight for the Celtics in the fourth quarter, while holding former teammate Paul Westphal to a mere eight points.

Raleighs Move Wins Scioto Downs Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Raleighs Move charged from fifth place at the three-quarters pole to record a one-length victory in the featured race at Scioto Downs Wednesday night.

The winner, covering the mile in 2:04, paid $5.80, $3.80 and $3.40. Fluffy Girl returned $7.80 and $5.40 for second and Big Treasure, $4.60 for show.

The 1-3 daily double combination of Hi Yhyah Hat and Kellytuck Edna was worth $29.20.

Akron Men Plead Not Guilty To CB Thefts

The three Akron men charged with multiple counts of breaking and entering and grand theft of several citizen band radios in the area appeared Wednesday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. All three of the men pleaded not guilty to the 19 charges against each one of them.

Four men involved in the burglary at the American Legion Home appeared on charges of breaking and entering and grand theft. P. Eugene Long, legal counsel for Holly Starchek, pleaded his client not guilty to both offenses.

Not guilty pleas were also entered by Steven Kempton, James Lloyd Smith and Donald Cohler. All were charged with the same breaking and entering and grand theft counts.

Attorney Long also represented Helen Bloomfield who appeared on a bill of information charging her with theft. She pleaded not guilty and will come to trial at a later date.

Rex Taylor, indicted for forgery, was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Ohio State Reformatory for Men at Mansfield. Judge Ammer ordered the prison sentence to run concurrently with another sentence passed earlier in the common pleas court.

The court, during its mid-week session, ordered Danny Counts returned for further disposition of his case. Counts was sentenced two weeks ago to 60 days in the county jail for violation of probation. Judge Ammer today suspended the remainder of the sentence and ordered Counts to report to the Reintegration Center in Columbus.

Upon receiving word that Gary Sampson had been recently convicted in Franklin County of a felony, the local officials filed a charge of violation of probation against him. Sampson appeared here in 1974 and was convicted of four counts of breaking and entering.

Judge Ammer found him guilty Wednesday of violation of probation and sentenced him to a term of 1-5 years at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute on each of the four original charges. The court also ordered that the sentences run concurrently with the one passed in the Franklin County case.

Local attorney James Kingsley represented Gary Eugene Mitchell in court Wednesday. Mitchell was originally charged with theft but the charge was reduced to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle after his attorney and the prosecutor had completed negotiations. The case had been scheduled for a jury trial but was disposed of in the court when Mitchell pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

The court sentenced Mitchell to 90 days in the county jail.

Another case was disposed of during the morning as a result of legal negotiations. Nick Stonerock, originally charged with arson and receiving stolen property, pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property valued at less than $150 and falsification. Stonerock received two suspended 90-day sentences in the county jail and was ordered to pay $100 fine on each count.

Jerry Slone, appearing before Ammer on a charge of sexual imposition, was sentenced Wednesday to a term of 18 months to ten years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Sharon Wycupp pleaded guilty to theft. The court ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on her by the Adult Parole Authority.

Two final defendants coming before the court Wednesday were Larry Webb and Carl Webb. Larry Webb, represented by legal counsel James Kingsley, was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Mansfield Reformatory. Carl Webb was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Ohio State Pen.

Today on the court docket are two civil cases set for jury trial. Dale G. Burris and Glenn V. Farnham are each suing the Kroger Grocery Corporation and Harley E. Thomas.

Burris is asking for judgment in the amount of $440,000 and Farnham for $550,000. Local attorney Roy Huffer is representing the plaintiffs and Columbus counsel James Monahan is representing the Kroger Company.

A jury was seated shortly before noon today. The names of those jurors will appear in Friday's edition of the Herald.

See No Default On Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has no intention of letting the government default on Social Security payments, lawmakers studying the system's financial problems insist.

Law Suit Filed On Sterilization

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — A $300,000 law suit, the third one brought in the case, has been filed by a New Albany woman who contends she was sterilized involuntarily in 1970.

The latest suit by Linda Petro was filed in federal court here. It names the Floyd County Welfare Department and Floyd County commissioners, alleging the welfare department "forced, coerced and induced" her to submit to the operation. Mrs. Petro said she was legally unable to give her consent because she had been declared incompetent under state laws.

Mrs. Petro earlier filed suits against two doctors, one seeking $1.35 million damages, the other $800,000.

Appeals Nixed Over Jail Terms

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Supreme and Appeals courts have turned down appeals by two prisoners who said they were sentenced to longer terms than stipulated in plea bargaining agreements.

The prisoners sought to withdraw guilty pleas. But the courts, in separate decisions Wednesday, said the defendants agreed to plead guilty to a reduced charge. The fact they received the maximum sentence for the charge was not enough to allow them to withdraw their pleas.

Seek Restraint

Order Against Firm

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Securities Commission obtained an emergency restraining order Wednesday, halting operation of Modern Management Co. of Indianapolis.

Marion County Circuit Court also ordered funds of the firm impounded.

A suit filed by the state agency contended Modern Management sold $85,000 worth of illegal securities. According to the commission, the firm purported it would loan the money to an agricultural co operative to be known as Indiana Farmers Marketing Association.

Rhodes Raps Industry Tax

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has one of the worst tax situations for industry in the country, according to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

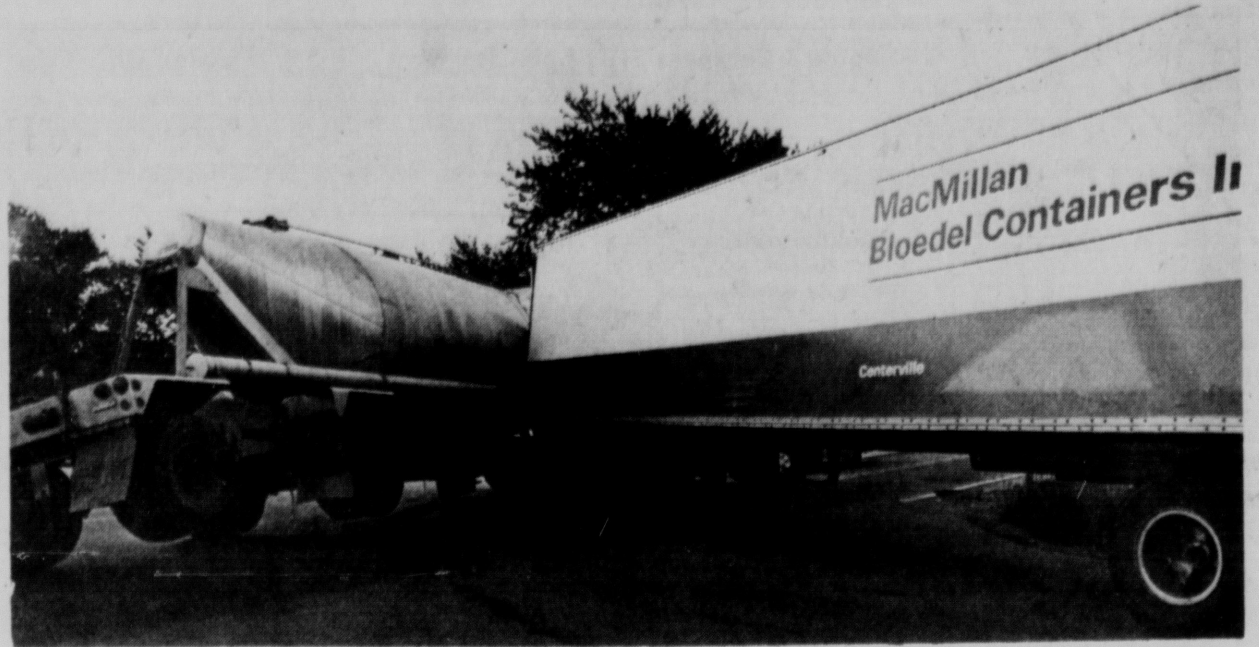

Rhodes told a group of industrial leaders meeting here Wednesday, however, that he would continue to ask foreign industries to locate in the state, despite the fact it ranks first in taxation of industry.

"I honestly believe we (government officials) can cause more confusion in business and industry than all your competition," Rhodes said during remarks at an industrial development clinic sponsored by the Butler County Chamber of Commerce.

The governor noted that industry pays a large percentage of taxes in Ohio, but legislators aren't worried because "corporations don't vote."

"In Butler County, Armco cannot expand because of the tax load and a few other problems," he said. "You can't shut them off from expanding, or you'll die. The young people will have to leave home."

Rhodes speech was part of a continuing program to give businessmen a chance to talk with state officials regarding problems they are having with state agencies.

CRASH AT CROSSING — Semi trucks driven by Danny Tackett, 27, Columbus, and Mearl L. Carman, 45, Middletown, crashed 6:05 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of Route 22 and Route 207. Deputy Sheriff Dan Dewey said Tackett was southbound on Route 207 when he pulled into the path of Carman's rig, headed east on Route 22. After impact, both vehicles rotated clockwise and Tackett's rig struck a car driven by Mark J. Ellison, 21,

Route 1, New Holland. Ellison was stopped at the stop sign headed north on Route 207. No one was hurt in the crash, although all the vehicles were extensively damaged. Tackett was charged with failing to yield for a stop sign. The New Holland Fire Department washed diesel fuel and oil from the intersection and State Highway crews applied sand to keep the surface from becoming slippery.

The three Akron men charged with multiple counts of breaking and entering and grand theft of several citizen band radios in the area appeared Wednesday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. All three of the men pleaded not guilty to the 19 charges against each one of them.

There were 13 other persons appearing during Wednesday's session of court. Judge William Ammer conducted the hearings with county prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt representing the state of Ohio in the criminal proceedings.

Four men involved in the burglary at the American Legion Home appeared on charges of breaking and entering and grand theft. P. Eugene Long, legal counsel for Holly Starchek, pleaded his client not guilty to both offenses.

Not guilty pleas were also entered by Steven Kempton, James Lloyd Smith and Donald Cohler. All were charged with the same breaking and entering and grand theft counts.

Attorney Long also represented Helen Bloomfield who appeared on a bill of information charging her with theft. She pleaded not guilty and will come to trial at a later date.

Rex Taylor, indicted for forgery, was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Ohio State Reformatory for Men at Mansfield. Judge Ammer ordered the prison sentence to run concurrently with another sentence passed earlier in the common pleas court.

The court, during its mid-week session, ordered Danny Counts returned for further disposition of his case. Counts was sentenced two weeks ago to 60 days in the county jail for violation of probation. Judge Ammer today suspended the remainder of the sentence and ordered Counts to report to the Reintegration Center in Columbus.

Upon receiving word that Gary Sampson had been recently convicted in Franklin County of a felony, the local officials filed a charge of violation of probation against him. Sampson appeared here in 1974 and was convicted of four counts of breaking and entering.

Judge Ammer found him guilty Wednesday of violation of probation and sentenced him to a term of 1-5 years at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute on each of the four original charges. The court also ordered that the sentences run concurrently with the one passed in the Franklin County case.

Local attorney James Kingsley represented Gary Eugene Mitchell in court Wednesday. Mitchell was originally charged with theft but the charge was reduced to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle after his attorney and the prosecutor had completed negotiations. The case had been scheduled for a jury trial but was disposed of in the court when Mitchell pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

The court sentenced Mitchell to 90 days in the county jail.

Another case was disposed of during the morning as a result of legal negotiations. Nick Stonerock, originally charged with arson and receiving stolen property, pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property valued at less than $150 and falsification. Stonerock received two suspended 90-day sentences in the county jail and was ordered to pay $100 fine on each count.

Jerry Slone, appearing before Ammer on a charge of sexual imposition, was sentenced Wednesday to a term of 18 months to ten years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Sharon Wycupp pleaded guilty to theft. The court ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on her by the Adult Parole Authority.

Two final defendants coming before the court Wednesday were Larry Webb and Carl Webb. Larry Webb, represented by legal counsel James Kingsley, was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Mansfield Reformatory. Carl Webb was sentenced to a term of 1-5 years at the Ohio State Pen.

Today on the court docket are two civil cases set for jury trial. Dale G. Burris and Glenn V. Farnham are each suing the Kroger Grocery Corporation and Harley E. Thomas.

Burris is asking for judgment in the amount of $440,000 and Farnham for $550,000. Local attorney Roy Huffer is representing the plaintiffs and Columbus counsel James Monahan is representing the Kroger Company.

A jury was seated shortly before noon today. The names of those jurors will appear in Friday's edition of the Herald.

Rhodes Raps Industry Tax

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has one of the worst tax situations for industry in the country, according to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

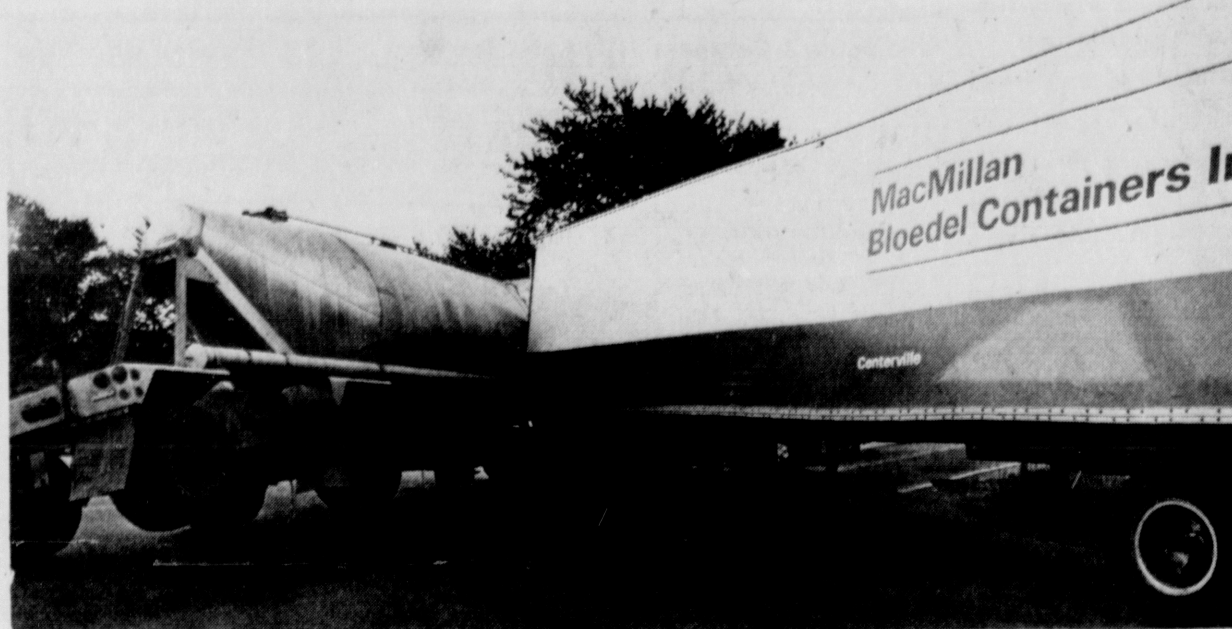

Rhodes told a group of industrial leaders meeting here Wednesday, however, that he would continue to ask foreign industries to locate in the state, despite the fact it ranks first in taxation of industry.

"I honestly believe we (government officials) can cause more confusion in business and industry than all your competition," Rhodes said during remarks at an industrial development clinic sponsored by the Butler County Chamber of Commerce.

The governor noted that industry pays a large percentage of taxes in Ohio, but legislators aren't worried because "corporations don't vote."

"In Butler County, Armco cannot expand because of the tax load and a few other problems," he said. "You can't shut them off from expanding, or you'll die. The young people will have to leave home."

Rhodes speech was part of a continuing program to give businessmen a chance to talk with state officials regarding problems they are having with state agencies.

CRASH AT CROSSING — Semi trucks driven by Danny Tackett, 27, Columbus, and Mearl L. Carman, 45, Middletown, crashed 6:05 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of Route 22 and Route 207. Deputy Sheriff Dan Dewey said Tackett was southbound on Route 207 when he pulled into the path of Carman's rig, headed east on Route 22. After impact, both vehicles rotated clockwise and Tackett's rig struck a car driven by Mark J. Ellison, 21,

Route 1, New Holland. Ellison was stopped at the stop sign headed north on Route 207. No one was hurt in the crash, although all the vehicles were extensively damaged. Tackett was charged with failing to yield for a stop sign. The New Holland Fire Department washed diesel fuel and oil from the intersection and State Highway crews applied sand to keep the surface from becoming slippery.

See No Default On Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has no intention of letting the government default on Social Security payments, lawmakers studying the system's financial problems insist.

Law Suit Filed On Sterilization

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — A $300,000 law suit, the third one brought in the case, has been filed by a New Albany woman who contends she was sterilized involuntarily in 1970.

The latest suit by Linda Petro was filed in federal court here. It names the Floyd County Welfare Department and Floyd County commissioners, alleging the welfare department "forced, coerced and induced" her to submit to the operation. Mrs. Petro said she was legally unable to give her consent because she had been declared incompetent under state laws.

Mrs. Petro earlier filed suits against two doctors, one seeking $1.35 million damages, the other $800,000.

Appeals Nixed Over Jail Terms

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Supreme and Appeals courts have turned down appeals by two prisoners who said they were sentenced to longer terms than stipulated in plea bargaining agreements.

The prisoners sought to withdraw guilty pleas. But the courts, in separate decisions Wednesday, said the defendants agreed to plead guilty to a reduced charge. The fact they received the maximum sentence for the charge was not enough to allow them to withdraw their pleas.

The Supreme Court ruling concerned William K. Howard's guilty plea in Warsaw to a charge of second-degree murder in the death of his wife.

Seek Restraint

Order Against Firm

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Securities Commission obtained an emergency restraining order Wednesday, halting operation of Modern Management Co. of Indianapolis.

Marion County Circuit Court also ordered funds of the firm impounded.

A suit filed by the state agency contended Modern Management sold $85,000 worth of illegal securities. According to the commission, the firm purported it would loan the money to an agricultural co operative to be known as Indiana Farmers Marketing Association.

Three members of the House-Senate Economic Committee made the comments Wednesday after Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell testified that a fund to cover deficits in the program could go broke as early as 1981.

The panel was to continue hearings today with testimony from the Congressional Budget Office, which contends the fund, instead of being depleted, should stabilize at around $28 billion in 1980 or 1981.

The fund now stands at about $44 billion, but is being steadily eroded because Social Security pays out more than it receives.

Committee Chairman Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said there "isn't any doubt" Congress would act to cover any deficit that threatens to stop Social Security payments. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said there is "no way, no way" Congress would let the system go broke.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., agreed, calling it "inconceivable that we could fail as a government to honor the commitment we have made." He said a default in paying Social Security benefits was no more likely than a government failure to pay off on savings bonds.

More than 32 million Americans receive Social Security cash benefits totalling about $6 billion per month.

Humphrey said the joint committee hopes to get the truth of "allegations that the Social Security System is tottering on the verge of bankruptcy."

Cardwell said he, too, doubted Congress would permit the system to go into default. But he stood by predictions the Social Security reserve fund would be depleted by 1981 at the earliest or the mid-1980s at the latest. "What will happen after that, no one knows," he added.

The problem is a long-range one because of the increasing number of retirees on the Social Security rolls and a decline in the birth rate, said Cardwell. This means a smaller work force in the future to pay into the program, he noted.

He said the system's fiscal problems have also been aggravated by the recent combination of unemployment and inflation.
